EX-PRESIDENT "VERY SICK MAN"

Hughes Resigns Seat on World Court and Clears Up Affairs But Refuses Formal Statement.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)— William Howard Taft resigned today as chief justice of the United States and President Hoover promptly appointed Charles Evans Hughes to succeed him.

Despite his failing health, the sudden voluntary ending of the public career of Mr. Taft with its span of 40 years came as a public surprise, but little more so than did the selection of the former secretary of state as his successor.

The resignation of the only man to be both president and chief justice was presented to the president just before noon by a son, Robert A. Taft.
He had brought it to Washington from Asheville, where Mr. Taft had been resting for three weeks after a recurrence of an old organic ailment.

Accepting the resignation with reluctance, Mr. Hoover determined to name a successor as speedily as possible so that there might be the minimum of delay in handling the business of the court.

He located Mr. Hughes in New York by long distance telephone, offered him the post and there was a prompt acceptance.

Prompt Action.
The nomination immediately was prepared and transmitted to the senate soon after 4 p. m. Prompt confirmation is looked for with the expectation that Mr. Hughes will take his place as chief justice within the very near future.

From the moment of the announcement of the resignation of Mr. Taft until the nomination of Mr. Hughes was sent to the senate, the belief had been fairly general in both official and supreme court circles that Associate Justice Harlan Fiske Stone would be elevated to the highest judicial post in the country.

By speedily filling the post, the chief executive cut short speculation as to Mr. Taft's probable successor.
Hughes and Stone already were being mentioned prominently, as well as Former President Coolidge and Senator Borah, of Idaho.

Appointment of Mr. Hughes as chief justice will create another vacancy in the federal service. His son, Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., will resign as solicitor general of the United States, since this official argues the more important cases for the government before the supreme court.

Two Posts.
Mr. Hughes in New York said he would accept the nomination as chief justice.

Weighted alike by serious illness and his 73 years of age, William Howard Taft was returning to Washington tonight from Asheville, his physicians having decided that it

Noted Author Visiting Here On Way Home

Sherwood Anderson, of Virginia and Ohio, Is Always Political Winner.

Sherwood Anderson, famous Wines-burg, Ohio, novelist and short story writer, and noted editor of two weekly newspapers in Marion, Smyth county, Virginia, railroaded into Atlanta Monday and will leave early today for Greenville, S. C. Mr. Anderson has been visiting newspaper friends in Columbus, Ga., for several days.

It was suggested to Mr. Anderson that he write an interview with himself, but he smilingly refused and said he would not have time to make it brief enough, and added: "Buck Fever, the Smyth County News' reporter, always handles such matters for me.
You see, this business of trying to be literary destroys one's ability to write real stuff—the kind of writing that is a good reporter makes vivid, human and readable."

Mr. Anderson stated that he was simply "drifting through the south."
He roamed in Florida for a couple of weeks and then came to Georgia, and will go by leisurely stages through the Carolinas and then home to Virginia.

"I have been impressed by the newspapers of the south," said Mr.
Anderson. "It is my opinion that they are superior to those of any other part of the country, in towns of equal size. One reason for this superiority is the fact that the chain newspapers have not invaded the south in the degree that they have in other sections. Another and important reason is that the southerner is more of an individualist than the man in the east or west."

"Recently I made the statement that it would be a wonderful thing for newspapers if they could all at-

MANY WITNESSES FACE GRAND JURY

41 Citizens, Largest Number for Any Single Day, Appear To Testify.

Hearing 41 witnesses in afternoon and night sessions, the Fulton grand jury, investigating charges of corruption in the administration of the municipal government, Monday set a new high record, that number being eight more than heard at any previous day's session.

More than 200 witnesses are to be heard during the week, which also will set a new high record. The largest number heard during any previous week is 150. Though Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said before the first session of the week Monday afternoon that he doubted if the investigation could be completed by the present grand jury before the end of its tenure on February 28, it was said that some of the members of the grand jury still are confident of completion this month and it was with this in view that the extra large number of witnesses were subpoenaed for the day.

The grand jury Monday was without the services of its foreman, W.
Rawson Collier, who left Sunday on a hurried business trip to Philadelphia. It was emphasized that private business called Mr. Collier out of town and that his trip has no connection with the present investigation. He is expected to return in time for the sessions of the grand jury Wednesday.

Citizens' Body Meets.
An executive meeting of the governing board of the citizens' committee, sponsoring and financially supporting the grand jury's inquiry was held Monday afternoon in the office of Edgar Watkins, Jr., the committee secretary, in the Atlanta Trust building. The meeting was presided over by H. Y. McCord, chairman of the executive board.

The grand jury itself Monday concentrated its efforts on alleged fraudulent deals for park sites and school construction. Of the 41 witnesses heard during the day it was said that a great majority of them were questioned regarding the contracts for the purchase of John A. White and Charles L. Chosewood park sites and various school buildings constructed within the last several years.

The grand jury Monday made no answer to the request of the parks committee of the general council that it hear John A. White, the committee chairman, explain the "distress being wrought to the taxpayers by the holding up of the payments of the park sites" the deals for which are under investigation. It was indicated that no action would be taken on the request until the return of Mr. Collier.

Another Month Seen.
Solicitor-General Boykin in discussing the inquiry Monday said that he felt certain that it could not be completed by the present grand jury.

"There are many important transactions we must go into and on which we have not started," Mr.
Boykin said. "We also have many important angles of semi-complete phases of the investigation to inquire into. I believe I am safe in saying that it will not be before March 1."
The solicitor-general added that there will be no indictments until all of the evidence has been obtained.

BRADFORD SEEKS $50,000 DAMAGES FROM HENDRICKS

Oral Defamation Charged in Local Wiring Tangle; Council Orders Minute Inspection of City Hall.

While Pat Hendricks, city electrician, was being made defendant Monday afternoon in a $50,000 defamation suit in Fulton county superior court, the council of the borough of Atlanta voted unanimously to order him to make a minute inspection of Atlanta's new $1,000,000 city hall and to file a formal report with Mayor I. N. Ragsdale not later than February 10.

George E. Bradford, president of the Electro Construction Company, is the plaintiff in the damage action,
charging oral defamation.

Bradford formally filed a communication with council asking Hendricks impeachment on the grounds of "incompetency," but this paper was referred to the electric lights committee for investigation and report, following a heated attack on the official by Councilman Howard C. Mc-Cabe, chairman of the special city hall committee.

The electric lights committee is the body directly in charge of the conduct of the city electrician's office.

$60,000 To Be Paid.
Council also voted to pay the National Construction Company $60,000 of the $90,000 now being held by the city for the general contract on the city hall job, and to hold the $30,000 remaining until the inspections are completed, all corrections made and the structure finally accepted.

A representative of the National Construction Company also will accompany Mr. Hendricks on his inspection, and, according to assurances made by John A. McDonald, president of the National Company, to the special hall committee, the plans and specifications and all provisions of the electrical code will be lived up to by the company and the city will not be asked to accept the structure until it is in first-class condition.

The city hall committee recommended that only $10,000 be held back, but after Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance committee, and council, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam and others attacked the paper because it carried what they termed too much money, Alderman G. Everett Millican, amended the measure so that it carried the $60,000 payment. Alderman Gilliam lost a move to reduce the payment to $40,000.

Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the 13th ward, attempted to block reading of the Bradford letter to council in which it was charged that Mr. Hendricks had stolen from his office.

SOVIETS EXECUTE NAVAL OFFICERS

Between 400 and 500 Former Czarist Men Put to Death by Police.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(United News.)
Secret service police have executed between 400 and 500 former Russian naval officers at various Soviet prisons in the past fortnight, a Riga dispatch to the Daily Mail said tonight.

News of the executions, the most widespread since the revolution, reacted relatives of the victims in the Latavian capital today from Moscow.

The killings were ordered, the dispatch said, by Commissar Menjinski, chief of the soviet secret police, who for 18 months had been arresting all officers of the old czarist navy not serving with the Red fleet.

Some of those arrested were thrown into Lubyanka prison at Moscow, others were held on the Solovetski islands in the White sea, and still others were imprisoned at various Black sea ports.

The Daily Mail's dispatch said several letters had been received at Riga from Russia, asking that memorial services be held for the dead, but requesting that no names be mentioned during the rites. Anonymity was asked, the dispatch added, through fear that soviet police attached to the Russian legation at Riga might trace the letters and order execution of the writers.

There was no confirmation of the Riga dispatch from other sources.
Reports of Russian events from the Latvian capital often have been proved either exaggerated or actually manufactured. Riga is a refuge for many anti-soviet emigres. It has been a prolific source of propaganda.

$30,000 IS SOUGHT TO REBUILD BRIDGE

Steps Taken to Have Southern Span of Forsyth Via-duct Reconstructed.

First official steps toward reconstruction of the entire Forsyth street viaduct were taken in council Monday, when the bridge committee asked $30, 000 as the city's part in rebuilding of the southern span of the structure.

Fulton county commissioners already have agreed to pay at least $30, 000 toward the cost of the work, and council Monday passed a formal request for that amount. The paper will be presented to the county commission at the regular meeting of that body Wednesday afternoon.

The resolution seeking the $30,000 from the city was referred to the finance committee of council for its action. A large number of members of that committee feel that the entire bridge should be reconstructed while the northern span is being rebuilt incident to erection of the new Union station just west of the Forsyth street bridge.

Another resolution requesting the W. & A. railroad to defer reconstruction of the northern span until plans for the rebuilding of the southern span are completed, so that both projects may proceed at the same time, also was passed by council.

Probabilities are that the finance committee will be able to file its report by the next meeting of council,
February 17.

In offering the papers, Alderman
W. Guy Dobbs, chairman of the bridge committee, pointed out the necessity of early action and insisted that steps be taken to assure erection of a complete new structure.

"We have the promise of the complete co-operation of the Fulton county commissioners in this matter and should avail ourselves of the opportunity to rebuild the complete structure," Mr. Dobbs said.

Expert Yeggs Rob Dentists In 3 Buildings

Gold Valued at Several Hundred Dollars Taken From Offices.

Nearly a score of prominent Atlanta dentists Sunday were victims of one of the newest robbery wrinkles and several hundred dollars worth of gold, intended for fillings and bridges, plus what cash could be found, was stolen from offices in the Candler, Grant and Fourth National buildings.

Police detectives, working hard on the series of robberies, familiar to other metropolitan cities but just introduced here for the first time, believe that the work was done by a band of professionals who operate periodically in New Orleans and Birmingham.
Crews, details of which they declined to give out, indicate to Atlanta detectives that the work was not that of local talent.

Dr. Manley A. Sparks, with offices in the Fourth National Bank building, was the heaviest individual loser reported to the police. Scrap gold worth $150 was stolen from his office. A total of $500 in cash and gold fillings was secured by the ring raid on Atlanta dentists that the work was not that of local talent.

Among the known victims, with police suspecting other downtown dentists to have been victims also, were
Dr. J. B. Webster, Dr. Roland Stoker,
Dr. Fowler, Dr. C. E. Jones, Dr. Roy
Shaw, Dr. Russell, Dr. J. R. Mitchell,
Dr. J. A. Rousch, Dr. Fred and Joe Eberhart, Dr. Harry Johnston, Dr.
Ben Whitaur, Dr. Thomas Crowshaw,
Dr. L. P. Langston and Dr. George
H. Stephens.

Six detectives assigned by Detective
Chief A. Lamar Poole to investigate the robberies late Monday night had not completed their report. A partial check by The Constitution revealed that money and supplies valued at more than $750 were the loot of the robbers.

let, Fla., arrived here today with her three sons by a second marriage to lay claim to the estate of another son,

U. S. TO FINANCE SALE OF COTTON

400,000 Bales Involved In Farm Board's Agreement With Co-operatives.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3.—
Following a conference this afternoon with Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, and three other southern senators, the federal farm board announced tonight that it has approved arrangements made by the newly organized American Cotton Co-operative Association to take over all marketing activities of the various market-state co-operative associations and also to finance the handling of all cotton now held by the various members' associations.

According to the official announcement, the board has made a loan to the association "of ample amount to carry out this program."

While no official figures were given,
it was estimated that upwards of 400, 000 bales of cotton are involved, this being the approximate holdings of these several member state co-operatives.

In addition to Senator George, the conference was participated in by Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina; Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana, and Senator Thomas J. Heflin, of Alabama, together with the directors of the American Cotton Co-operative Association, which was organized here a few weeks back under the direction of the federal farm board.

Progressive Step.

Today's action of the board marks the first concrete step taken in the direction of cotton price stabilization.
In effect, it has guaranteed the orderly marketing of all present holdings of state co-operatives affiliated with the giant $30,000,000 centralized marketing agency that is the American Cotton Co-operative Association.
To do this, it will be necessary to set up a stabilization corporation, provision for which is contained in the federal farm marketing act, but actually this will be accomplished by clothing the existing agency with proper authority, thus obviating the necessity for a second organization.
The conference with the farm board today was arranged by southern senators as an outgrowth of the spirited criticism of Chairman Alexander Legge, on the floor of the senate last

Right Wing Aileron Falls Off as Colonel Takes Trial Sail Over Mountains.

FATE UNKNOWN FOR SOME TIME

"Lucky Lindy" Found Safe After Companions
Race Across Rough Ground in Search.

SANDBERG, Cal., Feb. 3.— (United News.)—Colonel Charles A.
Lindbergh brought his glider to a safe landing a few miles from here this afternoon after it had dropped an aileron while in flight. Neither Lindbergh nor the motorless plane was hurt, but the world was given a shock for an hour while reports went far and wide that mishap had befallen the famous aviator.

The events of the flight apparently worried those on the ground more than they did the colonel.

"I'll try it again," he said when the excitement had died down.

"The aileron fell off because hard knocks had crystallized the duralumin. It was an uncomfortable feeling to find myself in a crippled glider, but knowing Hawley Bowlus and his ships as I do helped. Bowlus' ships stay up in the air."

Glider Unhurt.

His first words to those who rushed to the scene of his landing were:
"Even without wings this thing stays under control."

He gazed at the frail blue and white craft in which he made the flight. Except for the aileron, it was undamaged. The only mishap of the distant landing came when a newspaper automobile rushing to the scene overturned, but then no one was hurt either.

Lindbergh had come yesterday to this little resort 4,200 feet up in the Tehachapi mountains, which divide southern California from the interior valleys of the north.

He had spent this morning "playing," as he described it, with the glider owned by Hawley Bowlus, of San Diego. This afternoon he started on a glider flight.

With Lindbergh at the controls the glider was launched and sailed away into the air. Observers on the ground saw him bank the plane 3,000 feet up and just then an aileron dropped from one wing.

On the ground there was instant consternation, for it appeared that the colonel did not realize that the aileron which is used to control the plane's elevation and would seem a necessity

Two Bound Over On Liquor Charges

At a hearing Monday afternoon before Recorder Murphy Holloway, on charges of violating the prohibition laws, Mrs. Maggie Thigpen, 38, of 486 Boulevard place, and Langford Lanier, 20, of 365 Fifth street, N. E., were held in jail of $300 and $500, respectively for trial in city criminal court on the charges.

Police Sunday found 26 gallons of liquor in a room at the Boulevard lodging house operated by Mrs. Thigpen, who denied any connection with the liquor. Lanier, arrested Monday, is said to have occupied the room where the liquor was found. He denied any connection with it, but did not deny that he occupied the room. He said he employed Mrs. Thigpen as a housekeeper some time ago. The 4-year-old girl found Sunday with Mrs. Thigpen when police raided the residence was not with her when she was arraigned Monday afternoon. Judge Holloway was told by the woman, that her daughter, Ola, 20, had the child. Police were directed to report the matter to juvenile authorities.

German Trade Ship Libel Suits Slated

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The many libel suits involving the German trade ship Menzel, formerly the steamer Inchdirrie, flying the British flag, are scheduled to be heard tomorrow in United States district court here.

The owners of the vessel gave bond to meet the amounts of the libels which were filed by the crew, mostly orientals.

Work of the court, presided over by Judge W. H. Barrett, is expected to be concluded Friday.

Resigns as Chief Justice

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT

HUGHES NOMINATED TO SUCCEED TAFT

would be safer to get him back to Washington.

Mr. Taft is "very weak and is not improving," said Dr. Francis Hagner, of this city, at Asheville today, "and as he is not improving we feel that it would be safer to get him back to Washington."

"Safer."

The physician explained that the former president had decided to resign as chief justice "because we felt it would be safer for him to do so." Friends of Mr. Taft said that worries of the court were on the mind of the aged jurist and it was thought best to relieve him of those as quickly as might be.

Although apparently very ill, Mr. Taft was able to walk from his automobile to the Pullman car on which he is coming home. He was assisted, however, by his physician and a nurse. He took hold of the railing and pulled himself up the steps, but it was plain that it was a great effort for him to do so.

The resignation of Mr. Taft was prepared at Asheville by the chief justice himself, during the past few days and is a comparatively brief, legalistic document. He quoted the law governing the retirement of federal judges and pointed out that his combined service as circuit judge and chief justice brought him within the act.

There was some question among certain senators as to whether such was the case, but at the White House it was stated that Mr. Taft automatically went to the judicial retired list with the acceptance of his resignation by the president.

Removes Great Figure.

The retirement of Mr. Taft removes from the official life of the nation one of the outstanding figures of the times. For more than a quarter of a century he has been a part of the American government as president, secretary of war, the first governor-general of the Philippines, temporary governor of Cuba and later as chief justice.

His successor is almost as prominent in the life of the country. He has seen service before on the supreme court, having been appointed as associate justice in 1910 by the man whom he now succeeds as chief justice.

After six years of service, Mr. Hughes resigned to accept the presidential nomination of the republican party only to be defeated by Woodrow Wilson in one of the closest presidential races of record. The vote of California swung the election after it had appeared for hours that Mr. Hughes had been elected.

After four years in private life, Mr. Hughes was selected by President Harding as secretary of state and served from 1921 to 1925 under both Presidents Harding and Coolidge. As secretary of state, he was chairman of the American delegation to the arms conference and electrified the world with his proposal to scrap a large part of the American navy so as to bring about the first naval limitation treaty.

Governor of New York.

In the year following his retirement from the cabinet, President Coolidge appointed him justice on the permanent court of international justice. He also served as chairman of the American delegation to the sixth Pan-American conference at Havana, Cuba, in 1928.

Before his appointment to the supreme court in 1930, he had been elected to two terms as governor of New York, and previously had declined the nomination as republican candidate for mayor of New York city.

TAFT LEAVES FOR CAPITAL

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—William Howard Taft, a "pretty sick man," left Asheville late today for Washington.

With his wife, his personal physician, Dr. Francis Hagner, of Washington, and a nurse, the former president boarded a train which is scheduled to have him in Washington early tomorrow.

Although he was able to walk the few steps from his automobile to the railway car, it was evident he was forced to exert himself.

A crowd of people, fellow passengers and curious onlookers gathered at the station and watched him silently as he was assisted from his automobile and with the aid of his physician, who braced him from behind, pulled himself slowly up to the car platform.

He appeared to be in the grip of utter weariness.

The announcement that he would leave Asheville came as a surprise this morning. It had been believed he would remain here for some weeks longer, but in a statement issued here this afternoon Dr. Hagner said Mr. Taft is "very weak and not improving and as he is not improving we feel that it would be safer to get him back to Washington."

Second Roman Galley Found in Lake Nemi

BY RALPH FORTE.
(Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)
ROME, Italy, Feb. 2.—(News Service)—Rome tonight that the second imperial galley which has been rotting on the muddy bed of Lake Nemi for nineteen centuries has reached the surface of the water. The boat was found with the prow turned towards the village of Nemi at an approximate depth of 15 or 20 metres from the original lake level.

Contrary to the theory advanced at the time the first galley was uncovered, it is now believed that the galleys were used for gatherings by members of the religious "Cult of Diana." The first Nemi galley, which was brought to light last summer, is now standing on the shores of Lake Nemi and is being partially reconstructed under the careful supervision of Prof. Ugo Antonelli, chief of the Lake Nemi operations.

It is understood that attempts are going to be made to uncover a third galley which it is thought the waters of Lake Nemi are still hiding.

Camp Fire Girls To Gather Here February 15 to 18

The second regional conference of Camp Fire Girls will be held here February 15, 16, 17, and 18.

The conference will be attended by delegates from camps in the third district, embracing Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Tennessee. Mrs. Tom Brooke, of Atlanta, chairman of the third district, will preside at the sessions.

One of the features of the conference will be a national training school to be conducted by Miss Edith Kempthorne, national field secretary.

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, will be the principal speaker on field organization. Miss Kempthorne will deliver a lecture on "Leadership," and Lewis Skidmore, of Atlanta, is to speak on "Indian Art."

Dr. W. P. Baker, professor of biology of Emory University, is on the program for a nature lecture and Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, Atlanta Congregational minister, will complete the lectures with the subject, "Adolescent Psychology."

A number of social events also are to be scheduled during the conference.

Police Keep 'Date' With Hussy, Jail Him

Police Monday afternoon kept an engagement for Mrs. H. T. Sockwell, of 352 Sixth street, N. E., with her husband, who lives at 109 Fair street, and arrested him on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon. He will be heard by Recorder Murphy Holloway on the charges at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

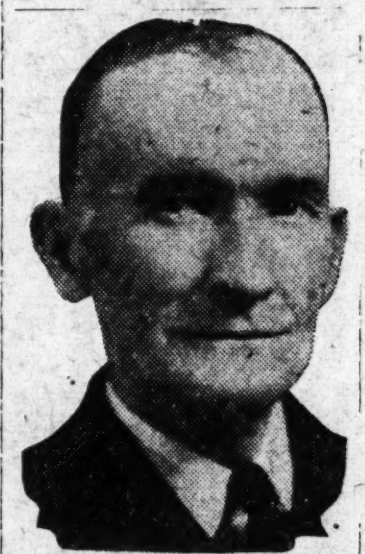

Sockwell, who police say, Monday morning twice snapped a pistol at his wife in the Piedmont avenue pressing shop where she is employed, fled after two cartridges failed to explode. Later Monday afternoon, it is said, he called Mrs. Sockwell and asked her to meet him at Kelly and Clark streets, adding that if she did not bring police with her everything would be all right, but if she did bring them he would "take care" of them. Agreeing to meet her husband, Mrs. Sockwell notified police. Patrolman M. S. Barton and W. A. Chewing, who kept her engagement, arrested Sockwell.

GEORGIA POWER VETERAN IS BACK ON FULL TIME

Ewing Says Health Was So Bad He Lost Nearly Half the Time From Work Before He Got Sargon.

"The day I started Sargon was the turning point in my life, because up to then my health was such a wreck I didn't care especially whether I lived or died."

"I think I had everything the matter with me a man can have and still be alive. My kidneys seemed badly out of order, causing severe pains in my back. Often my pulse would get so weak I looked for it to stop altogether, and my body would feel numb and cold all over. It made no difference what I ate or how much I was nothing agreed with me. The taste in my mouth was nauseating—I've even got up at night to relieve it by washing my mouth out. Sometimes after taking purgatives every day for several weeks I'd leave them off to see what would happen, and my bowels would go three or four days without a movement. I had barely enough strength to put in three days a week, and some weeks not that much.

"Reading people's statements praising Sargon put me in the notion to give it a trial, which I started about a month ago. Before the first bottle was gone I knew it was the medicine I'd been looking for, and kept right on taking it until now I'm on my fourth bottle and second bottle of pills. My kidneys are working fine and giving me no trouble at all. I eat like a man that's been rescued from starvation, and my stomach takes my food and turns it into nourishment and strength. From weighing 135 when I started Sargon, I now 'tip the scales' at 160, which is more than I've weighed since I was 38 years old. Instead of working three days a week, and having to drive myself to do that, I'm making seven days a week, and still feeling stronger than I have in years, and gaining every day."

"There's nothing to compare with the Sargon Pills, and I reckon I know what constipation is. All other laxatives left me worse than I was before taking them, but these pills started my liver to working and regulated my bowels so well I don't have to take one except occasionally. Sargon is the finest medicine ever put before the public."

The above remarkable statement was recently made by Linton I. Ewing, 1239 Colmer Ave., S. E., Atlanta, for 22 years an employee of the Georgia Power Co. a member of the East Side Baptist Church, and a highly esteemed citizen.

The Sargon Man is a Jacobs' Main Store, 48 N. Broad St., Grant Bldg., where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this celebrated new scientific product. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

tion contest, it was announced by C. W. Reid, principal. Chilton White will represent Fulton High school, according to W. F. Dykes, principal.

An elimination contest to select the Marist school representative has been started under supervision of Father McGuckin, teacher of English, first and second seniors, and Father Hanlon, in charge of English, third seniors.

Ex-Judge Charles B. Cannon, of the Indiana circuit courts, recently addressed Marist students on the subject of the constitution. Vincent Cefalis, who went to New Orleans last year from Marist as the regional contestant, will compete in the contest against this year, it was announced.

An elimination contest will be started in Tech High school within a week or so, according to W. O. Cheney, principal. Lloyd H. Kingberry, of Tech High, went as far as the Raleigh regional elimination contest two years ago.

Under supervision of A. F. Nace, head of the English department, and S. L. Lewis, associate in the library and government department, students of Boys' High will compete for the honor of representing their school.

Plans for the Boys' High contest are now being made. Students at Marist have been preparing rough drafts of their essays, and will complete the final drafts within a few days, it was said.

The national and international finals will be held in Washington. The Georgia state finals held at the state capitol have always attracted large audiences, and it is expected that even more interest will be taken in the contest this year.

With firm determination to win, local high school students are delving into library books and other volumes in their efforts to write original essays on the constitution. Each of the state winners in past years has won the right to represent Georgia through dint of hard effort and application.

Real thought and a great deal of time spent on research has been required in orations delivered at the state finals, and considerable interest in the constitution of the United States has been aroused among high school students.

Girls as well as boys have appeared in the state finals at the state capitol, and it is expected that the feminine contingent will not be absent this year.

De Rivera Avoids Challenge to Duel By 'Explanations'

MADRID, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Challenged to a duel, General Primo De Rivera, Spain's ousted dictator, has offered his explanations to the duke of Almodovar and thus evaded necessity of settling an affair of honor with pistols.

Five years ago in the first days of his dictatorship General Primo De Rivera made particularly violent statements in criticism of ministers of the cabinet preceding him. One of those assailed was the duke of Almodovar, former minister of interior, who was termed a "weak and inept man."

The duke sent Primo a letter demanding explanations or reparations by arms on the field of honor. General Primo De Rivera replied that while he was in power he would not undertake anything of this sort, but would leave the solution until such a time as he had abandoned his post.

Twenty-four hours had not elapsed after Primo's fall from power before the duke sent his "seconds," Captain General Aznar and Jose Pedregal y Sanchez Calvo, another former minister, to demand satisfaction.

General Primo De Rivera told the seconds he was sending a letter to the duke recalling his gallantry and that he was always a gentleman, and making his explanations for the objectionable remarks.

Hoover Signs Ouster For 2 Navy Officers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—President Hoover disclosed today that he had signed official orders dismissing Lieutenants Harold W. Northcutt and Charles Musil from the navy.

Northcutt was found guilty by the navy department on three charges—desertion, violating regulations and conduct prejudicial to morale of the service. Musil was accused of embezzling $54,661.21 while acting as disbursing officer of division 40 of the destroyer squadron of the scouting fleet, at Charleston, S. C.

While stationed at the Norfolk navy yard, Northcutt disappeared with some money he had collected for extension courses which he taught there for the University of Virginia. Located in Vancouver by officials of the department of justice, who were assisted in their search by a letter written to him by a nurse, he waived extradition and was brought to Seattle. He was convicted at court martial proceedings at the Bremerton naval station in Washington.

Musil buried most of the money he had stolen in a chicken yard here, from where it later was recovered and turned over to naval authorities.

The court martial held at the Washington navy yard last month recommended dismissal and five years imprisonment. The sentence was reduced to three years, however, because of Musil's restitution of the funds.

Rear Admiral Howard Dies at Advanced Age

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Rear Admiral William L. Howard, U. S. N., retired, aged 70, died today at Restmere, his home here. He was born at Plainfield, Conn., and graduated from the Naval academy in 1882. His wife and daughter have died within the past few years. He leaves several grandchildren. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but interment will be at Arlington National cemetery.

Prisoner Kills Self To Escape Whipping

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Rather than submit to a sentence of 15 strokes with the "cat," a prisoner in Wandsworth jail jumped from the top of a high tier of cells as he was being led down for punishment today and was killed.

He was James Edward Spiers, who had been sentenced to 10 years' penal servitude and 15 strokes at the whipping-post for the holdup of two financial district cashiers.

Mrs. Alfred I. DuPont Is Sued for Alienation

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Charging alienation of her husband's affections, Mrs. Mary Ball today filed suit in circuit court here for $1,000,000 damages against her former sister-in-law, Mrs. Jessie Ball Dupont, and the latter's husband, Thomas Ball, a Los Angeles attorney.

Although the bill of complaint lodged the charges specifically against Mrs. Dupont, Gordon McCauley, attorney for Mrs. Ball, explained that under the law it was necessary to name Mr. Dupont jointly with his wife in the litigation. Twelve counts were contained in the suit.

Mrs. Ball was divorced about two years ago from her husband, Thomas Ball, a Los Angeles attorney.

The suit charged that Mrs. Dupont "maliciously poisoned and prejudiced the mind of Mrs. Ball's husband against her by telling him false stories about Mrs. Ball," and that she "wrongfully, wickedly and maliciously enticed, influenced and induced" Ball to abandon his wife.

for lovely women of two continents

Olive oil, as combined with palm oil in Palmolive Soap, produces a lather which brings out natural loveliness. It protects the skin... is safe, soothing, delicate.

"SOME clients seem to think," says Antoine of Paris, "that my treatment will give them a beautiful complexion with no more effort on their part than an occasional visit to my salon. You compliment me too much, madame, I say. It is necessary for you to do your share between visits to my salon."

Antoine continues by stressing the need for soap and water cleanliness... and he prescribes, for this purpose, "just one soap—Palmolive."

"Its delicate yet penetrating lather," he says, "is the most effective means of clearing away every trace of dust and rouge and powder from the tiny pores of the skin. Further, its pure vegetable oils leave the skin soft and refreshed, so that it is immediately responsive to treatment at the next visit to my salon, and there is no lost ground to be made up."

ACCUSER OF HERBERT REPORTED DISMISSED

Informant for Borah and Wheeler Said Dropped by Dry Forces.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Evening Star said today it had learned authoritatively that Frank S. Flynn, whose charges against John J. Quinn, former deputy prohibition administrator in the Washington-Baltimore district, and John F. J. Herbert, new prohibition administrator at Helena, Mont., have been taken up in the senate is to be dismissed from the prohibition service.

Flynn, who was reported to be the informant to Senators Borah, republican, of Idaho, and Wheeler, democrat, of Montana, on charges made by them against Quinn and Herbert, was dismissed from the federal service once before. He was connected at that time with the United States Veterans' bureau in Denver, Colo.

The exact charges upon which Flynn will be dismissed, the Star said, have not been disclosed. The charges are now being drawn, it added, and one of them probably will be insubordination.

Meanwhile, Herbert has been ordered to Washington by Prohibition Commissioner Doran to meet the charges and is believed to be en route. Flynn, who has been in Washington temporarily, has been ordered by Doran to return to his post as a law clerk in the Baltimore prohibition office.

14 Tennessee Vets Die Over Week-End

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Fourteen names were removed by death from the Confederate veterans pension list today.

The morning's mail to the state auditor's office brought 14 short notices that as many members of the gray-clad legion of the south had died since Saturday.

The dwindling ranks of Confederate pensioners now barely pass the 5,000 mark. State Auditor Oscar J. Humphrey said.

VIRGINIA JUDGE DIES AT FREDERICKSBURG

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Judge R. H. L. Chichester, a member of the Virginia supreme court of appeals, died at a hospital here this morning, after an illness of more than a year. He was in his 60th year.

Judge Chichester, a native of Fairfax county, Va., was admitted to practice at the Virginia bar at the age of 21 years. From commonwealth's attorney for Stafford county he rose through various judgeships until in 1925 he was appointed by the governor to the supreme bench of the state. The general assembly elected him for a 12-year term to this office in 1928.

Judge Chichester was the publisher of The Fredericksburg Free Lance Star and was a breeder of blooded dairy cattle.

Three Sentenced In Liquor Cases

Plea of guilty to charges of manufacturing whisky Monday resulted in a $500 fine for E. Parker and fines of $50 each for Gus Farker and Levi Glass in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court. E. Parker was given two 12 months' concurrent suspended sentences on charges of possessing distilling apparatus and possessing 1,200 gallons of beer, both charges being misdemeanors. Gus Farker and Levi Glass were given concurrent suspended sentences of six months each on misdemeanor charges.

La Guardia Charges Florida Breeds Flies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, told the house today it would "get the shock of your lives if you learn the truth about the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida."

"I understand they are breeding fruit flies in Florida in order to justify the large amounts of money that are being expended there by the federal government," he added.

"There is one item of my home treatment which never varies—the preliminary cleansing of the skin with pure soap and water at least twice a day. For this purpose I always recommend Palmolive Soap."

7 Georgia Cities To Lose Highway Division Offices

Only Gainesville and Waycross Will Be Retained as Headquarters Under New System.

Two cities, Gainesville and Waycross, will be retained as division headquarters under the new system. The four new headquarters will be located at Cartersville, Louisville, Thomaston and Moultrie.

Colonel Tate said the Augusta offices would be moved to Louisville in order that John R. Phillips, state highway board member resident there, might keep in close touch with the division. Likewise, one south Georgia division headquarters was moved to Moultrie, the home of William C. Vereen, another member of the board. Colonel Tate said that it was agreed at the time the board voted to reduce the number of divisions from nine to six not to give out details until after the board had held another meeting. "However," he said, "the public seems to know of some of the changes and we think it advisable to let all of the people know what to expect."

The highway chairman said that the changes had been made with a view to placing the division headquarters nearer the center of each division in order that the engineers could more easily handle their territories.

Prospective changes in the personnel of division engineers were kept in abeyance by Colonel Sam Tate, highway board chairman, Monday in announcing the locations of headquarters of six newly created divisions which will take the place of the present nine divisions.

Seven Georgia towns and cities lose division highway headquarters as a result of the board's decision to curtail divisions. They are Rome, Griffin, Augusta, Dublin, Thomasville, Savannah and Americus.

Colonel Tate was in conference Monday with B. P. McWhorter, acting highway engineer who succeeds Warren R. Noel, resigned. It was expected that Colonel Tate would make an announcement concerning the personnel of the division engineers at the conclusion of the conference.

He announced, however, that it would be several days before this could be settled. Three at least of the present corps of division engineers will be let out or transferred to other duties under the resolution of the board to reduce the number of divisions.

The present division engineers are: E. M. Arnold, Rome; E. N. Parker, Gainesville; C. W. Wright, Griffin; E. C. Gartner, Augusta; W. S. Dennis, Dublin; B. A. Alderman, Americus; H. J. Friedman, Savannah; H. E. Newton, Waycross, and E. Jack Smith, Thomasville.

tain to the dignity of the press that printed them. And I think the south has more of the dignity and tradition of real journalism than can be found elsewhere. There are in the south at least a half-dozen daily newspapers that are courageous under all circumstances. I believe there is more of an expression of individuality and a closeness to the soil in the south.

"Look what your own paper, The Atlanta Constitution, has meant to the south as interpreter, defender and developer. What a roster of names—representative of oratory, folk-lore, poetry and journalism—Grady, Harris, Stanton, and the Howells. The Constitution represents a leadership that is needed today when the traditions and the charm of the south are threatened by a too-rapid industrialization. There still remains much of the south's charm—charm of its people, its manners, its homes—and it should not be lightly surrendered."

"There are the beautiful homes which should be preserved and which should be an inspiration to your architects. There are just two types of American architecture, the southern and the New England. It is too bad that the architects of the 'Nineties did not have a greater inclination to follow the lead of the old southern homes."

Of his two newspapers in Virginia—one democratic and one republican—Mr. Anderson said: "I found them that way and I left them as they were. When the national campaign came on I realized that for the first time in my life I couldn't lose."

Homer Saint-Gaudens Opens Agnes Scott Lyceum Program

Noted Authority on Arts To Lecture at Decatur School Auditorium Tonight.

DECATUR, Ga., Feb. 3.—(Special.)—Homer Saint-Gaudens, authority on American and international art and art themes, tonight will provide the opening lyceum number of the 1930 season at the Agnes Scott college auditorium, with a lecture on "Standards in Art."

Mr. Saint-Gaudens, who is director of fine arts at Carnegie institute, will develop his theme by illustrations taken from modern art and the old masters, shown by stereopticon slides. Mr. Saint-Gaudens is the son of Augustus Saint-Gaudens, regarded as one of the greatest of American sculptors. His mother, Augusta Homer, was a noted art student and painter in Rome.

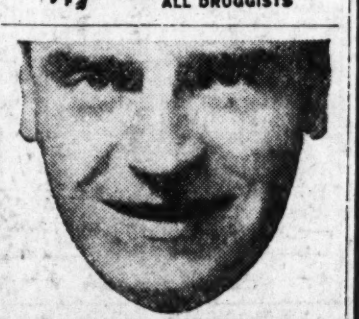

His early life was spent in Paris, and later, when his family moved to America, he entered Harvard, graduating in 1905. In 1904 he was named assistant editor of the Critic and later became managing editor of the Metropolitan magazine. In 1908 he was stage manager for Maude Adams and was associated with Granville Barker in the presentation of classical plays at Harvard and Princeton. Later he directed Lionel Barrymore, and also was in charge of the presentation of Eugene O'Neill's first Broadway drama, "Beyond the Horizon." He took an active part in the World War and organized the first camouflage force for the American armies. Mr. Saint-Gaudens has been in charge of six international art exhibitions, and in the eight years he has

TEXTILE LEADERS TO GATHER TODAY

Between 250 and 300 executives of Georgia and Alabama cotton mills will meet at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel this morning for a conference with Walker D. Hines, chairman of the board, and George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute.

Although the meeting was called primarily for the usual group conference of the print cloth and narrow sheeting section of the institute, the announcement that both Mr. Hines and Mr. Sloan, the two highest officials in the cotton world organization, would be here caused the committee to extend the invitation to all mill executives. Some few mill men from other states, engaged in making print cloth and narrow sheeting, probably will be here for the meeting.

Back in May, 1926, cotton mill executives of the south met in Atlanta and considered the matter of establishing the Cotton Textile Institute to check overlapping and adjust production to sales demands. They met in Washington the following winter and organized, naming Mr. Hines, former director general of railroads, as the first president. Pressure of other affairs recently caused him to resign his office and Mr. Sloan, former secretary of the Copper and Brass Research Association and afterwards secretary of the Cotton Textile Institute, succeeded him. It is the latter's first visit to southern mill men since he became president.

Matters affecting the textile industry in the south will probably come up for discussion during today's conference but the scope of the meeting is so limited that it is improbable any action will be taken with respect to the more important problems.

More Warm, Cloudy Weather Seen for Today

Brother Groundhog's prediction to the contrary notwithstanding, the immediate outlook for Atlanta's weather conditions calls for continued high temperatures, cloudy weather and possibly a few light showers thrown in, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

Overcast skies Monday brought next to nothing in the way of precipitation but the chances for rain today are more favorable, Mr. von Herrmann states, although nothing in the nature of drenching downpours is expected.

Seemingly in direct refutation of the yearly prophecy of Josiah Q. Groundhog, the mercury in the official thermometer here Monday started its daily climb at 49 degrees, one of the highest minimums registered here in some days and attained a maximum figure of 57 during the mid-afternoon. Since the daily mean temperature at this time of the year averages about 42 degrees, this is considered "warm weather." Little change in these figures is anticipated for today.

Kentuckian Killed By State Pen Guard

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Charles Oliver, 40, a garage owner here, was shot and killed on Short street tonight after an argument with O. G. Hardwick, day gate guard at the state penitentiary.

Hardwick, whose home is in Columbia, Adair county, is a neighbor of Oliver. When he learned from the hospital, where Oliver was rushed that Oliver was dead, he surrendered to police and refused to give any reason for the shooting. Oliver is married and was the father of two children. He is well known in Frankfort as is Hardwick, who has been a prison guard for some time.

LAVARRE IS FINED IN CONTEMPT CASE

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Feb. 3.—(AP)—William LaVarre was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail or to pay a fine of $800 by Judge T. J. Mauldin at a hearing here late today. The sentence was the result of a contempt charge preferred against him for failure to obey a court order restraining him from entering the building of the Spartanburg Herald and Spartanburg Journal.

Charges of contempt brought at the same time against A. F. Littlejohn, managing editor of the Journal; Earl R. Britton, foreman of the Columbia Record composing room, and George Case, auditor of the Piedmont Press Association, associates of LaVarre were dismissed.

JUDGE DEAVER CITES LAVARRE.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Judge Bascom S. Deaver today issued a subpoena directing William LaVarre to bring with him into court the account books of the Columbia (S. C.) Record, the Spartanburg Herald, the Spartanburg Journal and the Piedmont Press Association when he appears Thursday to answer a citation for contempt of court.

Old Judean Symbols In Christian Church

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Two tall Menorah lights, standing either side of the high altar in the cathedral of St. John the Divine (Episcopal) are believed by Bishop Manning to mark the first use of the symbolical seven-branched candlesticks of Judaism in a cathedral.

The twin lights, which are the gift of Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, were dedicated by Bishop William T. Manning yesterday, assisted by the very Rev. Milo H. Gates, new cathedral dean.

Bishop Manning called them symbols of the debt owed by Christianity to Judaism.

"This gift is a beautiful and significant one, both religious and historical," said Bishop Manning. "Menorah lights were used in Solomon's temple in Jerusalem and they are still used in Jewish synagogues throughout the world, but this is the first time Menorah lights have ever shown in a Christian cathedral."

The Menorah is a symbolical of the creation. The center light represents the Sabbath and the other six represent one of the days of creation as described in the Old Testament.

Dean Gates in his sermon said the lights were believed to be the most magnificent examples of the Menorah anywhere in the world.

They are fashioned of bronze and gold and stand 12 feet high.

Child Is Killed When Hit by Truck

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Robert Heath, Jr., four years old, was killed today when a coal truck ran over him. Jim Newsome, negro, driver of the truck, was arrested. The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heath.

Increase in Crops. MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 3.—(Special.)—Baldwin cotton crop records for 1929 show a huge increase over 1928; reports received from the government last week gave 5,727 bales for 1929 over 2,842 bales for 1928.

ATLANTA TO DONATE WATER FOR DECATUR

Borough Will Get Free Service Under Council Action Suggested by Ashley.

Atlanta heretofore will contribute the water supplied to the borough of Decatur free of charge, under action of council Monday afternoon.

Alderman Claude Ashley, chairman of the water committee, asked council to make the gift to "our sister borough," and that body voted unanimously to accede to his wishes. Council also voted to permit laying of a 12-inch water main from Cain street to supply the new Louis Dinkler hotel. Permit also was issued to excavate for the structure, which will be erected at Peachtree and Ellis streets. Mayor I. N. Ragsdale's veto of a paper providing that the city purchasing agent, instead of the purchasing committee of council, open and tabulate all bids was sustained and the paper was filed. A communication from the Milton Avenue Civic league welcoming any investigation of the purchase of Closewood park and expressing confidence in members of the parks committee of council was filed. A resolution authorizing renewal of the contract between the borough and the United States weather bureau for the continued location of a branch office of the bureau at Candler field, Atlanta's airport, was passed.

Natural Gas Enters Buckhead Section

Housewives in East Point and Buckhead Monday were having their first experience with natural gas from the fields of southern Louisiana. Alfred E. Hurlburt, consulting engineer for the Atlanta Gas Light Company, Sunday afternoon turned a valve on Vesta avenue, which divided East Point from College Park. Fifteen minutes later the natural fuel was used in the residence of Mrs. J. L. Nesbitt, of 215 West Vesta avenue, the residence nearest the point where the gas enters the mains. Monday morning early natural gas was introduced to the Buckhead section. Officials of the utility company Monday said artificial gas would be used in other sections for a week or more.

Instructions to persons feeling any hesitancy in handling the new fuel, include the shutting off of all automatic water heaters and range ovens until adjustments can be made and the keeping of top-burners turned half way down.

Stork Busy, Grady Crowded With Babies

The stork apparently is working overtime in Atlanta and dresser drawers are being pressed into service at Grady hospital to take care of infants there, according to reports Monday at the institution. Monday there were 33 mothers and prospective mothers in the institution with accommodations for only 27. Though there are only 28 available cribs at Grady, 28 new babies were born Monday.

Concession Stand To Bring $100 Month

The Royal Cigar Company Monday afternoon was recommended as the highest bidder for the concession stand to be located in Atlanta's new $1,000,000 city hall by the buildings and grounds committee of council. Recommendations of the committee will be filed at the next regular meeting of the council of the borough of Atlanta slated for February 17. Under the agreement A. Schwartz, of the cigar company, will pay $100 a month for the first three years and $120 a month for the next two. If he exercises an option for another five years, he will pay $120 a month for the first year of that period and $135 a month for the next four. J. V. Fain probably will get the contract for wrecking the old Atlanta city hall, paying $1,500 for the privilege. City Attorney James L. Mayson will be consulted as to an immunity bond which he will be required to file to protect the borough. R. L. McIntire was recommended to move all equipment and furnishings from the old city hall to the new building for $1,400.25. He will post a $2,000 bond to insure performance of the contract, according to a ruling of the committee.

Connecticut Citizens Mob Coastguardsmen

NEW LONDON, Conn., Feb. 3.—(United News.)—Two coast guardsmen are in hospitals here suffering from injuries inflicted by mobs of civilians it became known tonight.

Although no reports have been made by coast guard officials to the police, it was learned that the men were injured in two separate attacks last night and early today. The coast guardsmen were injured severely, it was said.

The first, a man named Leland attached to the patrol boat Marion, was beaten by a gang of civilians who seized him as he walked along Main street last night and dragged him into a vacant lot. He was removed to the base hospital.

The second victim, John Jones, 28, of the destroyer Ericson, received a broken jaw and other injuries when a group of civilians attacked him about 4 o'clock this morning.

Vincent Massey Seen As Larkin's Successor

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.) OTTAWA, Canada, Feb. 3.—Vincent Massey, Canadian minister to Washington, may be the next Canadian high commissioner in London in succession to P. C. Larkin, who died in London this morning. It is believed here, George W. Stephens, former governor of the Saar commission, may succeed Mr. Massey at Washington.

Ohio Wesleyan Debaters Meet Emory Tonight

The Ohio Wesleyan University debating team, which is to meet Emory

OHIO WESLEYAN DEBATE TEAM.

University at 8 o'clock tonight, is made up of Ohio Wesleyan's most experienced and skillful debaters. The team includes Donald Sherbondy, Dawson, Pa., president of the student body; Joseph Rinnert, Marion, football player, orator, and honor student; and Phillips Moulton, Lakewood, who along with Rinnert is generally considered as a prospective candidate for the presidency of the Ohio Wesleyan student body next year.

Professor W. Roy Diem, of the department of speech at Ohio Wesleyan, coach of the team, is accompanying it on its trip. The debate with Emory University is the first of a series in which the Ohio Wesleyan team is engaged during a trip through the south. Following in the Emory debate, Ohio Wesleyan will meet the University of South Carolina at Columbia, S. C., February 8, Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va., February 10, and American University and George Washington University at Washington, D. C., February 11 and 12, respectively.

All the debates except the last one which is to be on the question of disarmament will argue the proposition that it is an unsound policy to provide a liberal arts college education for the average secondary school graduate who seeks it. The varsity debating team at Ohio Wesleyan takes a trip similar to the one outlined for this year annually. Last year they debated in the southwest.

Aldermen Approve Councilmanic Papers

All papers passed to the aldermanic board Monday afternoon by action of council were sanctioned by the former body and sent to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale for his approval.

One of the papers, providing for sale of cows at the city dairy farm, was at first defeated, but when Alderman Ben T. Huie, of the third ward, signified his willingness to change his negative vote to an affirmative one, the paper was reconsidered and passed by a vote of six for and five against.

Fight for Charity Items Meets Defeat

Councilman William E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, Monday lost a fight to reinstate $46,300 in the January finance sheet to the credit of charitable organizations.

"I know that there are certain individuals crying for our blood, but they are not aged ladies and helpless people," Mr. Saunders said. "I feel that we should provide this money and assist those who are worthy of our support."

Alderman Claude Ashley, of the fourth ward, explained that the finance committee had deferred action in reinstating the funds cut out when purchase of parks on deferred payments had been attacked because of rumors of other suits.

Council declined to vote to reinstate any of the items stricken from the sheet pending hearing of an injunction proceeding against the parks and other alleged illegal allocations Saturday.

Revised Accounting System Considered

Establishment of a revised system of accounting in the local government will be considered by a special councilmanic committee headed by Alderman Claude Ashley, of the fourth ward, under action of council Monday afternoon.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale asked selection of a committee to review the report of the accounting committee of the citizens' advisory commission, and council authorized Alderman J. Allen Couch, mayor pro tem, to name such a body. The committee will study centralized bookkeeping.

Other members of the committee are Alderman G. Everett Millican, W. Guy Dobbs, and Councilmen Paul Carpenter and William E. Saunders.

Southern Natural Gas Corporation $7 Cumulative Preferred
Stock Partnership-With-Company Plan

To Residents of Atlanta

Your local gas company has arranged to serve you with Natural Gas brought from the extensive fields of Northeastern Louisiana through the 937-mile pipe line system of Southern Natural Gas Corporation.

This system of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, with its compressor stations and other auxiliary equipment, represents an investment of approximately $25,000,000 and serves a territory inhabited by about 935,000 people. It extends from the Monroe and Richland gas fields in Louisiana, under the Mississippi river, to the Birmingham, Alabama, district, to this city.

Natural Gas will stimulate the development of the Industrial Southeast. It will materially advance the commercial growth and prosperity of this city and State.

This contribution to the resources of Georgia and of the Southeast assures a promising industrial future for people of the South as well as a profitable participation for those who share in the ownership and earnings of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation.

We are pleased to offer the following two investment plans:

CASH INVESTMENT PLAN

Subscription price $100 per share and accrued dividends, annual dividend rate $7 per share.

Upon receipt of your subscription, accompanied by payment in full for the number of shares subscribed for, you will receive a temporary receipt for the stock. Delivery of the stock certificate itself will be made in approximately 30 days. The temporary receipt in the meantime receives dividends on the basis of $7 per annum, the same as the regular stock certificate.

Dividend checks will be mailed on the first days of March, June, September and December.

MONTHLY INVESTMENT PLAN

This plan was created for those who prefer to save regularly and consistently from wages, salary or other forms of income.

The subscription price is just the same—$100 per share and accrued dividends—but payable $10 per share upon signing purchase agreement and $10 per share monthly until fully paid.

Each $10 payment earns 6% interest, which is credited to the subscriber's account, and paid when final payment for the stock has been made. At this time an adjustment will be made for accrued dividends.

A stock certificate will then be issued and forwarded to the subscriber, who is thereafter entitled to receive regular dividends at the rate of $7 per annum, payable quarterly, as under the cash investment plan.

For information regarding this sound investment yielding $7.00 per annum.

PROBE IN LYNCHING TO OPEN THURSDAY

Georgia Officers Ordered To Report Results of Investigation to Governor.

OCILLA, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Irwin county authorities today had instructions to report to Governor L. G. Hardman the results of their investigation of the lynching of Jimmy Levine, a negro, who was seized by a mob after being arrested for attacking and killing a 14-year-old white girl.

"Any action of the state will depend upon what the sheriff and the solicitor-general report to me," the governor said in Atlanta in announcing that he had asked information from Solicitor General R. S. Foy and Sheriff W. E. Tyler, who was injured slightly when the mob of some 500 persons took Levine from him, said he was accosted shortly before daylight Saturday and there was not light enough at the time to recognize members of the mob. The sheriff had arrested Levine at Milledgeville, Ga., after an all-night hunt and said the negro confessed the crime to him.

At the sheriff's office it was said that no arrests had been made in the lynching investigation. Solicitor Foy, of Sylvestor, said he was engaged in court duties elsewhere and would be unable to come here to open an inquiry until Thursday.

Judge H. E. of the Tifton circuit of the superior court, said he planned to consult with Mr. Foy today regarding the investigation.

Mrs. Miller Visits State Health Board

Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of New York, connected with the education extension service of the National Child Health Association, was a visitor at the state board of health offices Monday.

Mrs. Miller is here for conferences with Governor Hardman and officials of the board of health, the department of education and the department of public welfare. She has an appointment with the governor for Wednesday morning, when she will discuss plans for organization of a Georgia council on child health.

Silks, Bound Feet Eschewed By Women of 'New China'

MISS MARY JEN HERE ON ACADEMY DRIVE

A tiny bit of Chinese feminism rolled into Atlanta a few days ago in a mud-stained car and Monday rolled out again, bound on a solitary pilgrimage directed toward arousing American interest in the new women of China.

MISS MARY JEN.

She is Miss Mary Jen, in Chinese, Jen Pui Wah, a resident of Canton, and traveling over America as the representative of the Girls' Technical Academy, of Canton and Kowloon.

Miss Jen is the new woman of China personified. No bound feet for her. She wears trim golf shoes. And in the place of the padded silks of old China is a neat sports dress, with a raccoon coat and fur-lined gloves as accessories suitable for the business of driving a car about the highways and by-ways of America.

Old China would be horrified at her. "Why, just imagine," she says, "it was not so many years ago that it was absolutely improper for a Chinese girl to allow a man to touch her pulse. If he had accidentally touched the bare flesh it was the doctor's duty to marry the girl, or she would be in disgrace."

China's women are kept indoors, closely protected. It is a far cry from their sheltered lives to the experience of Miss Jen in the last year. Eleven months ago she landed at Frisco and set out alone in her huge task of gaining American aid for China's new women.

She traveled by train for a time, but in Boston last July it was suggested that she get a car. The fact that she had never driven was of small consequence. The innovation promised to facilitate her travels. She bought the car, learned to operate it, and in a few days' time set out in it alone.

"No, I was not afraid," she said.

"The only objection I had to it was that I was lonesome."

Miss Jen knows more of the highways and towns of America than the average American. Since July she has driven 42,000 miles.

Most of us in the south have always thought of Mobile as French. It is not, or so Miss Jen says, "Mobile looks more like China than any American city I have ever seen. The buildings are of the same type."

Miss Jen's business in America is specifically to raise funds for the schools she represents. More than 1,000 pupils are enrolled in the institution, which are devoted to the training of modern women and maintained by those sympathetic with the cause.

18 Laurens County Schools Suspended

DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Approximately 5,000 white children attending 18 schools, and negro pupils of 35 public institutions, will have an extended holiday in Laurens county following the closing today of these schools due to lack of funds.

Banks, according to T. M. Hicks, county superintendent, have declined to extend further credit to the schools until the outstanding warrants now held are paid.

Other schools of the county which will continue operations, Hicks said today, will do so through financial support of local taxes and tuition. The schools closed today will not re-open until the fall term in September.

With the announcement of the closing of the schools, T. D. Bailey, chairman of the Laurens county school board, issued a statement saying that Hicks had held the office of superintendent for only one year and a month, while warrants now outstanding were issued about five years ago. At the time of the issuance of the warrants, Mr. Bailey stated, Hicks held no executive position with the county school system.

Commission Asked To Set Gas Charges

Council passed resolutions Monday calling on the Georgia public service commission to hand down rates for industrial users of natural gas on a motion presented by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward.

Text of the resolutions follows: "Whereas, natural gas is now available in some parts of the city of Atlanta and will soon be available to the entire city, and, whereas, a good many industrial concerns in the city are possible consumers of this natural gas.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the mayor and general council that the Georgia public service commission be respectfully requested to set down the industrial rates that may be charged at the earliest possible moment."

Capital City Club To Elect Officers

Bradberry Brothers Sentenced to Death

WATKINSVILLE, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Weyman and Harvey Bradberry, Clarke county youths, were sentenced to electrocution by Judge Blanton Fortson today for the murder last November of "Doc" and Frances Elder, negroes.

Raymond Cooper, brother-in-law of the Bradberry brothers, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Fortson last Saturday, on the same charge. All three men were found guilty of murder in connection with the death of the negroes, the Bradberys without recommendation of mercy, which automatically gave them death sentences. The jury recommended mercy for Cooper.

Before Judge Fortson pronounced sentence on Weyman Bradberry today, defense attorneys made a motion for a modification of the death sentence to life imprisonment on the ground that the Bradberys had been convicted on circumstantial evidence.

Georgian Charged With Negress' Death

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—B. H. Baker, 79, wealthy property owner, was at liberty on $5,000 bond today to answer charges arising from the fatal stabbing of a 19-year-old negro woman when he went to her house to investigate a water leakage yesterday.

Authorities quoted Baker as saying that an argument ensued and as the woman advanced on him with a knife he stabbed her to protect himself.

Saturday Tag Sales Amount to $330,000

The state motor vehicle department enjoyed its biggest day in history Saturday as the total receipts from the sale of auto tags amounted to $330,000, according to an announcement at the department office Monday.

Of the grand total received, Saturday $270,000 came by mail and $60,000 resulted from window sales at the state capitol. All mail orders have been made up and sent out to the purchasers and should be received today.

Friday saw the largest window sales when $110,000 was received, while another $170,000 arrived by mail.

Two Fined, One Jailed On Whisky Charges

Plans of guilty to violations of the prohibition laws brought two fines and a penitentiary sentence in federal court here Monday.

Mack Clark was given a year and a day on charges of possessing and selling whisky. George Almond and Matthew Printup drew fines of $100 and $200 respectively, on possessing charges.

Mr. R. C. Kirby Tells How Cuticura Healed Itchy Eruptions.

"Some time ago I began breaking out with small, red pimples. They bothered me at night, itching until I could hardly sleep, and when I scratched them it caused eruptions. They bothered me about two months.

"I tried several different remedies but was not successful until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them a few times, as per directions, the itching stopped, and in two or three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) R. C. Kirby, R. D. 4, Manchester, Tenn., June 28, 1929.

the JOY of LIVING

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man's and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give to the blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal. Even though you have allowed your blood count to get too low, with resulting ill health, you may still be strong and well again.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S. S. S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

S.S.S.

You will be delighted with S.S.S. blood-building and tonic effects. Take at bedtime. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Electric Cookery Is Modern!

Count on Your Fingers these Nine Advantages of ELECTRIC COOKERY

Every housewife takes pride in the appearance of her kitchen. She knows that her "workshop" is just as deserving of modern-day equipment as is the office of her husband.

If you had a piece of cooking equipment that gave you more leisure hours, that simplified the preparation of meals, that gave you more delicious and more nutritious food, that made your kitchen cleaner, more convenient and efficient... and at the same time was the most economical method of cookery... you'd like to have it, wouldn't you?

An Electric Range gives you all of these advantages—with some to spare.

Under our new residential electric rate the use of Electric Cookery is more economical than ever before. Its cost is less than one cent per meal per person. Thousands of Georgia women can testify to this fact.

There's a size and a model of Electric Range to meet the requirements of your home. Visit any one of the 87 retail stores of this Company, of South Georgia Power Co. and Columbus Electric & Power Co., and our representatives will gladly tell you the interesting story of Electric Cookery and how it may serve you.

ELECTRIC COOKERY gives

1. Less Time In The Kitchen
2. Better Cooking—Easier Done
3. The Modern Method of Cookery
4. Less Drudgery—A Cooler Kitchen
5. Cleanliness
6. Convenience
7. Kitchen Beauty and Efficiency
8. Economy of Operation

Squad of 60 Players Turns Out for Spring Grid Drill at Boys' High

PURPLE-T. H. S. GAME SHIFTED TO NOVEMBER 15

Spring Game Between Two Prep Rivals Expected in March.

By Roy White.

Spring football practice was started with a rush and determination by Boys' High school candidates Monday afternoon on Henry Grady field. There were about 60 men out, including the few veterans left from last year.

Captain Morris Katz was not out and probably will not participate in the spring work. He is forward on the basketball team and one of its main cogs. He also plays baseball and will go from basketball into baseball practice. He is an end on the football team.

CHANGE.

Tech High and Boys' High have changed the date of their annual football game from November 11 to November 15. The change was made Monday when it was definitely learned that both Oglethorpe University and Georgia Tech football teams will be out of the city on the latter date.

The probability of a spring football game between the two rivals is picking up considerable momentum at present. Coach Doyal is anxious to play the game during the middle of March after five or six weeks of preliminary work. Coach Tolbert, of Tech High, is not opposed to the game, but at present, due to his basketball worries, is not very optimistic over the proposition.

START.

Tech High will probably start football practice next week, under the direction of Assistant Coach Alexander, who has worked with the linemen for several seasons.

In the initial practice Monday afternoon the work consisted of running around the track several times, charging, blocking, both on defense and offense, and a few lessons in side-stepping by the linemen.

Coach Doyal stated that he had numerous big linemen out and hopes to get some of the awkwardness out of them.

Several days more will be devoted to general conditioning, after which light dummy scrimmages are scheduled to take place.

Apply This Once And Kill the Itch

A new preparation known as "Sit-icide," being a liquid, thoroughly penetrates the skin, going into every pore, crevice and wrinkle where parasites hide, and kills every one of these parasites with one application, in thirty minutes.

Sit-icide is immediately effective in destroying parasitic itch (scabies) and is sold by all druggists at 60c, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Sit-icide Co., Inc., Commerce, Ga. (adv.)

Tech High and Fulton High on the Wesley Memorial court, Boys' High and University School for Boys on the Fourteenth street court and Russell and Decatur at Decatur, is the prep basketball menu for this afternoon. All of the games are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

With eight victories and only one defeat, Boys' High school continues to lead the prep league race and the Hurricane will probably add another victory to its string this afternoon. The Hurricane will face its hardest tests of the schedule Friday and Saturday night, when it meets Tech High on the Georgia Tech court and McCallie High Saturday in Chattanooga. Should the Hurricane hurdle those barriers, it should go into the prep tournament during the latter part of February with only one defeat on its record.

Decatur and Marist college with two excellent basketball teams are holding second and third places respectively in the race. Marist has lost two games and both of those were won by Decatur and by one and three points respectively. Decatur has dropped only one game and bids fair to end the season well up in the running.

G. M. A. prep winners last season, has won only two games and lost five. The Cadets have an unusually strong team but have failed to get going this season. Mann, the star defensive guard, broke a bone in his hand and will probably be out for the remainder of the season. Clark broke a bone in his ankle during football and has never rounded into form. He was one of the basketball stars last season.

Maw'nin'!

No. 8 or No. 9 shot. The shot from an odd numbered shell barely creep out of the barrel of the gun.

In some cases, shot stick in the barrel of the gun and remain until the next even numbered shell is fired. It is said that once a man carried a box of odd numbered shells to a dove field by mistake and after firing 49, his gun barrel became clogged with shot. Finally he came upon a stray even numbered shell in his pocket and put it into the gun. The funeral was next day.

Willie Hoppe Off On Billiard Tour

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(P)—Willie Hoppe, former world 18.2 ballline billiard champion, has started on an exhibition tour which will carry him into Mexico, Cuba and South America. Hoppe plans to spend most of his time in South America in the Argentine.

Loyola, of Chicago, To Battle Devils

DURHAM, N. C., Feb. 3.—(United News.)—Loyola, of Chicago, claimants last year to the national basketball title and displaying a "wonder" team again this winter, will meet the Duke quintet here on Feb. 13.

Georgia To Play Wolfpack Tonight

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 3.—The North Carolina State Wolfpack, Southern conference champions, and the University of Georgia Bulldogs, with only one loss in the conference standing, tangle horns here tomorrow night in one of the most interesting games of the week.

The Bulldogs, who Saturday night were turned back by the Kentucky Wildcats by a thrilling 22-21 score, hereby causing the Canines of Georgia to suffer their first conference defeat, finished their preparations for the game with a practice session on Woodruff Hall court Monday afternoon. None of the Bulldogs' veterans are on the injured list.

Coach Stegeman and his squad will leave Wednesday morning for Clemson, S. C., where the Bulldogs will take on the Clemson Tigers Wednesday night. The Georgia freshmen team will also make the trip.

Turnesa, Straab Win In Best Ball Meet

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(P)—Phil Turnesa, Elmendorf, N. Y., and Art Straab, Forest Hills, L. I., battled through 19 holes before they won their match with Cyril Walker, Saddle River, N. J., and Howard Tryon, Elmore, N. Y., amateur in first match play of a professional level tournament at Country Club Estates here today.

Neither team could gain telling advantage on the other until Turnesa and Straab pulled their victory on the nineteenth hole.

Tryon and Don Hamilton, Chicago amateur, filled in the places of professionals to make the flight complete.

Tanlac Only Medicine To Reach This Stubborn Case

The way Tanlac takes hold of your troubles and ends them would seem almost unbelievable were it not for the experiences of thousands of men and women who have put it to the test and have found themselves restored to health, freed from so-called rheumatism, stomach, kidney, liver and bladder troubles by the use of this super medicine. Here's one man, Mr. Charles L. Smith, a carpenter and cabinet maker who suffered night and day for years until Tanlac put an end to his troubles and made him a new man. "I suffered from a rundown condition for 3 or 4 years. I also had some kidney and bladder troubles as well as indigestion, gastritis and pains in stomach and side, chest and shoulders. I had lost considerable weight and my sleep was disturbed 4 or 5 times a night. I often had tried other things which failed to help me but after I had taken 3 bottles of Tanlac my kidney, bladder trouble and pains disappeared and never returned. I now sleep well and my pen and weight have all been recovered." Tanlac gives results and gives them quick for every herb, bark and root in it is a strong potent medicine. Like all good things it has its imitators but remember while others make glowing promises Tanlac is the ONE real medicine that backs its claims with a guarantee of money refunded if it does not help you. ## DOWN the LINE

by W.D. McGeehan

Passing through Lyons, the home of Henri Cochet, the tennis champion, I gathered that the holdout season in baseball must be on at home. One of the journals announced that Monsieur le Babe Ruth was demanding a salary or emoluments of 2,500,000 francs a year under the threat of not playing baseball at all if he did not get it.

I gathered further that Count Ebert Barrow, the secretary of the club, said that 1,750,000 francs was enough for any baseball player. Monsieur le Colonel Jacob Ruppert is said to have offered to compromise with the Babe for an annual salary of 1,875,000, which is the same number of francs as are paid to the president of the United States. At Lyons one could live comfortably on the difference between what the Babe is asking and what they were willing to give him. By the time this arrives it probably will be settled to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned.

FIGURING IN FRANCS.

It seems to me that the Babe always has been working at bargain prices. The Baltimore Orioles picked him up at a bargain, then sold him to the Boston Red Sox for a sum that would be paid without question these days for a cross-eyed, red-headed, left-handed pitcher in the sticks.

BABE STARTLED OLD-TIMERS.

The New York Yankees paid the Red Sox something like $150,000 for Ruth, and that caused a loud and raucous squawk at the time, but it proved to be the biggest bargain ever made in ivory history. When the Babe got as high as $50,000 a year some of the old-timers in the national pastime started to wonder whether we were drifting. But Colonel Jacob Ruppert did not need a guardian in financial matters. The fact that he paid the Babe that money meant that he was worth about five times as much.

As I recall it, the Babe at the end of last season, finished a three-year contract that paid him 1,750,000 francs a year. He signed this contract with reluctance, and with some feeling of humiliation because it was a smaller salary than that paid to the president of the United States. At that price Babe Ruth again was one of the greatest bargains in the ivory industry.

Naturally, the Babe likes to feel that he is advancing in his profession and feels that the salary he asks is reasonable enough, even though a lot of old paper millionaires of yesterday are doing with considerable cuts in their incomes. Then, too, it may be the last contract the Babe will sign as an active player, for the old dogs do not hold out forever, as your correspondent can testify.

It sounded very serious when it appeared in the French papers in francs. A French gentleman who has been accompanying

this tour had a solution that might appeal to Colonel Ruppert, so I set it down for what it is worth because I am always offering constructive suggestions.

After much pondering the French gentleman said, "As I understand it, Monsieur le Babe asks of the gentleman who owns the club to pay him 2,500,000 francs a year. Why not make the compromise? Why does not the gentleman who owns the club offer to give Monsieur le Babe the club on the condition that he pay to him 2,500,000 francs a year. With that the gentleman could have himself a nice chateau in a good neighborhood and a villa in the south of France, and he would have no more to worry."

It sounds alarming, but your correspondent on his return expects to find Babe Ruth still with the Yankees or the Yankees still with Babe Ruth.

POUR LE CHAMPIONNAT.

The French journal, "Le Matin" has an authoritative dispatch from London to the effect that Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott will meet this month at Miami, Fla., in "un match de boxe pour le championnat toutes categories." The notion of Jack and Phil fighting it out for the championship of all classes would have seemed highly humorous some time back, but it seems to be true at the current writing. "Le Matin" is very reliable, understand.

Another French journal received a dispatch from London to the effect that Phil Scott expressed himself as being very confident that he would beat Sharkey. When Phil expressed his vote of confidence in himself he was in London, England, while Mr. Sharkey probably was in Boston, Mass., in the Etats Unis. Phil can be depended upon to be confident at that distance.

I felt that something like a Scott-Sharkey bout was pending this winter, and that feeling brought on the temporary illness which necessitated putting some miles of sea between myself and that bout. I saw Sharkey fight once at Miami, and an overtaken heart hardly would stand the repetition of that strain.

It would produce sleeping sickness or some other unpleasant and incurable ailment.

These dispatches rather indicate that the various boxing commissions will allow the winner of this "What Is It" at Miami the claiming privileges to the heavyweight chances. If Phil Scott comes out of Florida in a vertical position you can rely on his manager, James J. Johnston, the Boy Bandit, to do some vociferous claiming. He once got the welterweight championship for Ted Kid Lewis by the simple process of claiming and later the light-heavyweight championship for Michael Methuselah McTigue by the same process.

HOW ABOUT SCHMELING?

Somehow I gathered that this news previously had come to the ears of Babe Ruth and that it might have been a factor in moving him to ask the good Colonel Jacob Ruppert for the salary of 2,500,000 francs a year. If Sharkey is paid on the same basis as he was paid for the "Battle of What Is It" at Miami Beach he will get that sum for stepping around lightly on a balmy Florida evening for 15 rounds.

It is not unlikely that Phil Scott will get about the same amount for doing just the same thing. Babe Ruth has to persevere for 154 days in the course of a baseball season and it must be remembered that daily the Babe swings at a baseball with more earnestness and energy than ever will be shown by Phil Scott and Jack Sharkey when they are swinging at each other by the shores of Biscayne bay.

I noted that Max Schmeling, who is the best of the heavyweights today, is left out of the calculations when the promoters announce that the dance of Phil Scott and Jack Sharkey will decide le championnat du monde, tout categories. It must be because Schmeling was unconventional and impulsive enough to knock Risko, the rubbery one, cuckoo and to mess up Paulino Uzcudun. He seemed to be precipitate and impulsive. If he had been allowed to continue he might have eliminated all of the contenders in the heavyweight division. This never would have done. There would not be enough heavyweights left to supply the demand of the Six Hundred Millionaires of Madison Square Garden.

Conservative business men like Sharkey and Scott seem to be needed with the present precarious state of the cauliflower market. Last year at Miami Sharkey showed that he was ultra-conservative.

Injuries Fatal To Former Giant

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—(P)—

Gus Sandberg, veteran catcher for the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league, died here early today. Sandberg had been severely burned about the head yesterday when the gasoline tank of his car exploded.

Sandberg came here several years ago from the Cubs. He was 34 years old. Police said Sandberg drained the tank of his car and then lit a match to see if it was empty. A blast caught the ball player full in the face followed.

$20,000 APPROPRIATED FOR STUDY OF COTTON

Development of Improved Seed Sought by Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(Special.)—The senate appropriations committee in reporting the agricultural department appropriations bill today included an amendment carrying an item of $20,000 for the study and development of seed and propagation of an improved type of long staple cotton suitable for use in Georgia and other southern states.

Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, a member of the committee, and the author of the amendment, explained that the department of agriculture will use the funds in trying to reestablish the sea island cotton industry in south Georgia, South Carolina and Florida, where it thrived before the advent of boll weevil conditions.

The amendment of Senator Harris for $20,000 for the soil erosion station in the southeast was withdrawn on the promise of the chief of the bureau of soils that he would use other funds for the development of this station in the southeast.

Representative Charles H. Brand, of Athens, has arranged for the Georgia senators and members of the house

ADVERTISING BUREAU HONORS E. E. DALLIS

Head of Atlanta Agency Is Placed on Board of Directors.

Ernest E. Dallis, head of the Johnson-Dallis Company, of Atlanta, one of the oldest advertising agencies of the south, has been honored by being elected a director of the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau, at the annual stockholders' meeting held recently in New York.

The National Outdoor Advertising Bureau is composed of leading advertising agencies in the country, the Johnson-Dallis Company being a charter member, and is used by its agency membership for placing all forms of outdoor advertising, including billboards, painted bulletins, etc.

The south is rapidly coming to the forefront through its advertisers backing up their newspaper campaigns with outdoor advertising, Mr. Dallis says.

The Johnson-Dallis Company is also a charter member of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, which places a large amount of national advertising in newspapers, magazines, and radio, as well as outdoor display.

Mr. Dallis was the first southerner to be elected to a national office with the American Association of Advertising Agencies, when he was named secretary in 1923. He has also served as a member of the board of directors of that organization.

The National Outdoor Advertising Bureau maintains headquarters at No. 1 Park Avenue, New York city, and branch offices in Chicago, Detroit, and San Francisco.

City Hall Furniture Check Is Requested

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Monday, by letter, advised heads of city departments to check their furnishings and equipments with a view to determining what their needs in that line would be coincident with the removal of municipal activities to new city hall. Request that only absolute necessities be included in the lists was contained in the letter.

The letter is silent on how new furniture may be bought, in line with City Comptroller B. Graham West's statement that about $97,000 must be paid on certain items now due on the new city hall before new furnishings may be bought. City hall circles Monday believed that the mayor's action was taken because of the proposal to come before council next Monday to discount the first five or eight years lease on the old city hall property to obtain funds for this and other expenses.

Use of New Word 'Kip' Is Urged by Engineers

Atlanta was introduced to a work new to the English vocabulary Monday at a meeting of the Georgia section of the American Society of Civil Engineers at which recently published standard specifications for bridge construction were discussed.

The new word is "kip." Webster defines it in his unabridged dictionary as a small animal. But in its engineering sense it has no connection with its meaning there. It means a thousand pounds.

Its use is advocated by Henry B. Seaman, New York consulting engineer, and it is becoming current to some extent. But only 10 out of about 40 engineers attending the meeting knew its meaning.

The new bridge specifications are a compromise between recommendations of the American Railway Engineering Association and the American Society of Civil Engineers.

S. B. Slack, bridge engineer of the state highway board, brought out its salient features. W. A. Hausell, president, presided at the meeting.

Drug Chain Official To Address Civitans

Sinclair Jacobs, vice president of Jacobs' Pharmacy Company, who was recently elected president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association, will be the principal speaker at the regular Civitan Club luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today on the fourth floor of the Atlanta Athletic Club, it is announced by Dr. W. Earl Quillian, Civitan president.

SINCLAIR JACOBS.

As an entertainment feature, Dick Hames, chairman of the program committee, is presenting Jack McAllen with "Sarah," appearing as the headliner this week at Keith's Georgia. The act is billed as "A cyclone of delightful comedy and song."

Child Killed.

ARCADIA, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a playmate cost the life of Randolph Parker, 12, yesterday. He was playing with a group of boys when the accident occurred, and received the full charge in the chest. He died shortly afterward.

LIONS TO MEET TODAY

R. C. Norman Will Be Speaker at Luncheon.

R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, will address the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Lions Club at 12:30 o'clock today, in the Henry Grady hotel. Commissioner Norman will talk on "Taxes," and will be introduced by Karl Yancey, chairman for the day. Among the members of the club participating on the program will be Payton Graves and Charles Gavan.

Typhoid Eradication In State by '44 Seen

Typhoid fever will have been entirely eradicated from Georgia by 1944 if the present rate of decrease continues, it was revealed Monday in statistics relative to the disease released by the bureau of vital statistics of the state board of health.

The first figures of the board on typhoid were compiled in 1919, when a death rate of 24 persons per 100,000 of population was shown. Since then the rate has decreased to 10.5 per 100,000. The reduction in Georgia has been much more rapid than in other states embracing within the federal registration area, it was said.

Check From Dinkler Given Comptroller

The $50,000 certified check which the Dinkler Hotels Company, Inc., filed with the bureau of Atlanta as evidence of good faith in its bid for lease of the present site of the Atlanta city hall was ordered turned over to the city comptroller Monday by council.

City Clerk Walter C. Taylor brought the check to council, and asked what disposition he should make of it, stating it had been in a safe deposit vault since it had been filed with the bureau, but that some disposition should be made of it by order of council.

Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward, moved that it be turned over to City Comptroller B. Graham West.

Record Is Broken By Criminal Court

Accusations sworn out in criminal court of Atlanta since the court was established by a legislative act of 1891 Monday passed the 100,000 mark.

John S. McClelland, solicitor of the court, Sunday passed his 39th birthday, having been born the same year the legislature established the court. Under Mr. McClelland, the court disposed of 6,430 cases during 1929, as compared with the average of 2,500 for the 30 years of its existence.

Criminal court of Atlanta is neither a city court nor a county court, but is an independent court established by a special act of the general assembly, it was pointed out. T. P. W. Starnesland was the first judge and Lewis Thomas the first solicitor. The court now is presided over by Judge Jesse M. Wood, who succeeded Judge Andy Calhoun in 1925.

Forestry Report Ready by Friday

State Forester B. M. Lufburrow announced Monday that his annual financial statement and report of fire protection work for 1929 would be presented to the state board of forestry at its meeting in Governor L. G. Hardman's office Friday.

Lufburrow indicated that the report of activities would show a marked improvement over previous years in protective methods and in results.

Another important item to be taken up at the meeting will be that of claims for financing the American Legion memorial fire tower on Blood Mountain, near Neel Gap, Ga.

Members of the board of forestry are Governor Hardman, chairman; G.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper figure, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. # NOTED LECTURER AND AUTHOR SPENDS TODAY HERE

Mrs. Ottley To Entertain For Mrs. E. T. Seton

Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, one of the most distinguished lecturers and authors in America, will spend today in Atlanta with Mrs. John K. Ottley, who entertains at an informal tea this afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club in her honor. Mrs. Seton's home, which is next door to that of a former Atlantan, Mrs. Thomas B. Fielder, at Greenwich, Conn., is the center of cultural and social life. At past president of the American League of Pen Women, Mrs. Seton is known to a large following, having been an enthusiastic upholder and director of the organization for many years. She writes under the name of Grace Gallatin Seton, and is quite in demand in the lecture field.

Mrs. Seton has had a number of successful books published, including "A Woman Tenderfoot in the Rockies," "Nimrod's Wife," "A Woman Tenderfoot in Egypt" and "Chinese Lanterns." Her "Yes, Lady Sahib," was the prize winning book in 1926 in the Washington book prize contest for the best serious book. She is also well known for the songs contributed to musical realms, among the best known being "If You Were I and I Were You, Sweetheart," "Lotus," "Love is a Blossom" and "Canton Boat Woman." Mrs. Seton is widely traveled, having spent a great deal of her life in Europe. She also made sociological studies of the women in oriental countries, spending much of her time in India, northern Africa, China and South America. Her husband, Ernest Thompson Seton, is the author of some of the best known books for boys. Mrs. Seton is en route from New York to Florida to spend several weeks.

Mrs. Tupper To Be Honored At Informal Tea

Mrs. Geddings Tupper, of New Orleans, La., arrives in Atlanta Friday, February 7, to visit Mrs. John H. Raine at her home on Peachtree street, and her visit will be the inspiration for a series of social affairs given in her honor. Mrs. Raine will be hostess at an informal tea Tuesday, February 11, in compliment to Mrs. Tupper, inviting a group of intimate friends of the honor guest for this occasion.

Mrs. Tupper will spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Joseph S. Raine, at her home on West Peachtree street, before returning to New Orleans. She is a former resident of Atlanta, having spent her girlhood here, and was, before her marriage, Miss Mamie Miller, daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. John A. Miller, pioneer citizens, who were identified with the early development of the city.

Miss Bruckner and Mr. Boone Plight Troth at Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Frances Bruckner to William Oliver Boone, of Atlanta, formerly of Nashville, Tenn., was beautifully solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Bruckner, on Murphy avenue. The Rev. Father H. F. Clark, of St. Anthony's church, performed the impressive ceremony before a representative gathering of relatives and friends. The marriage services were performed before an improvised altar of palms and ferns against which stood tall floor baskets of calla lilies interspersed with tall cathedral candelabra holding tapers which illumined the scene. The same lilies were artistically used in decoration throughout the home.

Preceding the ceremony an appropriate program of musical music was rendered. Miss Marion West sang "Berceuse," from Jocelyn, and William Henry, Jr., violinist, to the piano accompaniment of Miss West sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was used as the processional. Miss West sang "I Love You Truly" as a duet-toned accompaniment to the wedding service.

The Bridal Party. Miss Hilda Bruckner, sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor, wore a becoming model of blue chignon, fashioned along princess lines. An effective modish bertha of lace was a feature of the model. The same lace was effectively introduced in flares in the long skirt of irregular hemline. She carried a magnificent sheaf of Columbia roses showered with lilies of the valley and tied with pale green tulle.

The bride who entered with her father, Julius Bruckner, by whom she was given in marriage, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, W. Everhart Cunningham. She was never more lovely than in her wedding gown of powder blue chiffon trimmed with blue Spanish lace. The model featured lace in princess effect to the knees, where it flared gracefully with insets of blue chiffon, which formed an unbroken hemline. The long sleeves were tight to the elbows, where flowing chiffon and lace fell at the wrist. The V-neckline was a feature of the model. Her bridal bouquet was a sheaf of Ophelia roses showered with lilies of the valley tied with streamers of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Bruckner, mother of the bride, wore a becoming model of midnight blue flat crepe trimmed with touches of real lace. A shoulder bouquet of Butterfly roses, sweetpeas and lilies of the valley completed the costume.

Mrs. Boone wore marine blue flat crepe offset with touches of real lace.

Her bouquet was of Butterfly roses, sweetpeas and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home. Mr. and Mrs. Bruckner were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Boone and members of the wedding party. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. William J. Henry, Mrs. B. F. Hedges, Mrs. Jack Barker and Miss Gladys Crane, who kept the bride's book.

The bride's table, which was overlaid with a handmade imported lace cloth, was ornamented with a three-tiered white embossed bridal cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. At artistic intervals on the table were placed silver candlesticks tied with white tulle falling gracefully from the chandelier.

The young couple left for a wedding trip to Miami, Cuba and points of interest in Florida. The bride's traveling costume was a green tweed ensemble offset with collar of lap fur. A close fitting hat of green felt and straw completed the costume. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Boone will make their home temporarily in Atlanta.

Miss H. K. Spain Writes Article for 'Musical America'

Miss Helen Knox Spain, well-known Atlanta musician and talented writer, has a most interesting article appearing in the January 25 edition of Musical America, one of the outstanding musical news magazines published in the United States. The article, which is entitled, "Atlanta Has New Music Center and Concert Series," carries with it pictures of three of Atlanta's best-known music lovers, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Charles Beaton and Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey. Mrs. Moore is president of the Atlanta Music Club, first vice president of the Civic Music Club Association, and Georgia chairman of the Atwater Kent Foundation Audition. Mr. Beaton, who is a well-known Atlanta pianist, is director of the courses in normal training in the Atlanta Conservatory. Dr. Dewey is professor of fine arts at Emory University, and director of the Emory Glee Club and Symphony Orchestra. The Emory Glee Club gained international recognition, having appeared for two summers in Great Britain and France.

Musical Forecast. The article is in the form of a forecast of the outstanding musical events which are to take place in Atlanta the balance of the 1929-30 concert season, and the musical offerings to appear here during the spring months, the annual appearance of the Metropolitan Opera Company the third week of April being the most important event of the entire year.

Miss Spain, who is a most ardent music lover, has been the Atlanta editor of Musical America for the past seven years, and has contributed many worthwhile and interesting articles to the publication. Her splendid writings have aided in bringing Atlanta music circles into prominence, as her contributions appear in the magazine timely with outstanding events taking place in Atlanta. Walter Kramer, who is the eminent editor of the publication, is one of the most prominent musical critics in the country, and for many years has been connected with Musical America.

Nashville Belle To Wed in Spring. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 3.—Of cordial interest to Atlanta society is the announcement made by Mrs. Norman Kirkman, of Nashville, Tenn., of the engagement of her daughter, Eleanor, to Paul Barclay Wishart, of Detroit, Mich., the marriage to be solemnized in the spring in Nashville. Miss Kirkman is one of Nashville's most popular young girls and has enjoyed widespread popularity wherever she has visited. She is a member of the Junior League and the Girls' Cotillion Club, and was a member of the Debutante Club of Nashville in the season of 1929-27.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germ, and also aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have tried it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Scientific massage gives comfort to the expectant mother

THOUSANDS of expectant mothers are now cheerful and happy. Their waiting months have been made comfortable and they will be better prepared when the great moment of childbirth arrives.

This has also been true of countless thousands of expectant mothers for over 60 years who have used "Mother's Friend"—that time-tested, scientifically-prepared skin lubricant and pain-reliever, which originated in the prescription of an eminent obstetrician—and have been relieved of the strain and the pain, the discomfort and the nervousness that come from the distention and the stretching of the skin and the tissues which attend this delicate condition.

You, too, may enjoy the comfort "Mother's Friend" gives. It is so soothing and relaxing. It is not a drug to be taken. It is used externally only—gently rubbed into the skin. Clean and pleasant to the touch. Brings relief promptly. Very valuable in keeping the breasts in good condition. Also puts you in fine shape for the approaching ordeal.

"Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores. $1.25 per bottle. Try a massage with it tonight and notice the ease and comfort it gives. Write for booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes."

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BLACKY CALLS A CONFERENCE BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

In unity is always strength. And thus are ends attained at length. —Blacky the Crow.

Blacky the Crow had been very much frightened. In fact, he had had the worst fright he had had all winter. He had visited his old nest in the Green Forest and had found Mrs. Hooty, the Great Horned Owl, on the edge of it and Hooty sitting close by. He had waited for nothing more. But now that he was safely away, he was becoming very brave. Many people are like that. His fright was over.

The next story: "The Crows Make a Brave Showing."

New Face Powder Now the Fashion

"Caw, caw, caw," he screamed, just as loud as he could.

Anger had taken its place. Muttering to himself, he began looking around for Mrs. Blacky. Failing to find her, he took up his position in a certain favorite tree and began to caw. "Caw caw, caw, caw," he screamed just as loud as he could.

The first to answer him was Mrs. Blacky. She came hurrying over to find out what all the fuss was about. "I'll tell you, my dear," said Blacky, "as soon as the others arrive. You might help me call them."

So Mrs. Blacky joined in with Blacky and how they did make the Green Forest ring with their caws! Pretty soon from every direction crows came hurrying up. Of course, each crow right away wanted to know why he or she had been called. But Blacky wouldn't tell until all the crows had arrived.

When Blacky was satisfied that no more crows were within sound of his voice he told his story. "It's Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty," said he. "You remember what a good time we had tormenting Hooty the last time I called you?"

"We remember," cried all the crows.

"Well," said Blacky, "that time I was merely getting even with Hooty for having tried to catch me for his breakfast. This time it is another matter altogether." He turned to Mrs. Blacky. "My dear," said he, "you remember that once several years ago Hooty and Mrs. Hooty took one of our old nests?"

"Indeed I do!" exclaimed Mrs. Blacky. "I have never forgiven them for it. I wanted to see that nest over again myself last year."

Blacky paused a moment. Then

LIGHT-HEADED, TIRED FEELING

Bilious Troubles Relieved By the Help of Thedford's Black-Draught.

Gainesville, Ga.—Mrs. F. A. Watson, of 43 West High Street, this city, says that she has used Thedford's Black-Draught for fifteen years, when needed for such troubles as she mentions below.

"I took Black-Draught for indigestion and the tired, worn feeling that comes from biliousness.

"When I get up in the morning and my mouth tastes bad and my eyes burn, and I feel light-headed, I know that I must take something. After I heard how good it was, I took Black-Draught. A few doses relieve me so much—make me feel well and strong and clear up my head."

"I don't know what I would do without Black-Draught. It seems to regulate the bowels and rid one of impurities."

Thousands of others have written to tell how many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, have disappeared after they had taken Thedford's Black-Draught. It is a natural remedy, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots, and put up by modern scientific, accurate methods.

Women Will Try To Save Chest From Suspension

Women of Atlanta, with hearts awake to the needs of the city's unfortunate, will gather at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to consider means of saving the Community Chest and its 39 agencies of social service from the danger of suspension.

A mass meeting will be held under auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, but those invited to participate are not restricted to clubwomen.

Everybody concerned with the welfare of Atlanta, with the needs of its unfortunate, its sick and helpless, its widowed mothers and unprotected children, should be there," said Mrs. Emmett Quinn, secretary of the West Point milk fund, one of the societies fostered by the Chest, Monday night.

"Members of the federated clubs are invited," said Mrs. S. F. Boykin, president of the Atlanta Federation, "but so also are all other women of Atlanta, members of parent-teacher organizations, of every other organization, or of no organization at all, are asked to come."

"The situation is one which touches the heart and the pride of Atlanta. It is one which should appeal to all women, and to the remedy for which the energies of every woman in Atlanta should be directed."

The situation was revealed in a proclamation from the executive committee of the Chest last Friday which asserted that inadequate public support and elimination of city appropriations have threatened the existence of the Community Chest and its 39 agencies.

The proclamation included the warning that unless help is available in increased contributions by individuals and in public appropriations, many of the 39 agencies may be forced to suspend.

"The Chest has 20,000 givers who are contributing $370,000 throughout 1936," said the proclamation. "This is not enough to sustain the 39 agencies of the Chest."

"But the non-payment and withdrawal of county and city appropriations has made this condition acute. Unless these amounts are paid or guaranteed by the city and county, more money is given to the Chest, the doors of the societies will be closed."

"This disaster cannot be contemplated by the thoughtful, compassionate people of this great community."

PROVED 417 TIMES

A Quart of Milk a Day builds the Strongest Bones and Teeth

A FAMOUS Southern state college of agriculture publishes amazing proof that pure milk is "the master builder" of bones and teeth. "417 experiments with children," it says, "have shown that the best storage of calcium was secured, regardless of the age of the child, when one quart of milk was made the basis of the diet..."

The precious mineral, calcium—or lime—is absolutely essential in the building of strong bones and sound teeth.

No milk contains calcium in greater abundance than does Foremost milk. Other health-giving minerals, as well as proteins, carbohydrates and vitamins, are also richly present in it.

Well-cared-for, well-fed cows produce Foremost milk. It is tested for purity and quality under the supervision of dairymen experts. Doubly to safeguard your child's health, Foremost milk is pasteurized as recommended by health authorities. Sold by grocers and druggists.

These tests were made over a period of months on children of various ages, and coming from various kinds of homes. Before the eyes of doubting scientists, milk actually built, when taken in large enough quantities, sturdier frames as well as stronger teeth, that will cost less in pain and dental work.

Junior League Jottings

BY MRS. REGINALD SCOTT FLEET, Editor

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior League of Atlanta will be held at the Piedmont Driving Club at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The committee chairman, including the various chairmen for the Folies, will read their reports which will be of great interest to the members. According to the by-laws, at this meeting three members of the nominating committee for the officers of 1930-1931 are to be elected. The chairman and the fifth member of this committee will be appointed by the president, Mrs. John Knox. It is urged that you give this meeting serious consideration and place in nomination only members who are qualified to act upon this committee by virtue of their familiarity with the affairs of the league. A full attendance is requested as this is the last meeting before the presentation of the Junior League Folies and affairs of interest and importance will be brought before the meeting.

Wednesday is the final day for the signatures in the Junior League Folies program. Will all members of the league who have produced their signatures or that of their husbands or children be good enough to bring them to the meeting or mail them immediately to Mrs. C. F. Palmer, 40 Woodcrest avenue, or to the member making the request. Let us have a complete roster of Junior Leaguers, their husbands and their children in the Folies program.

The Junior League Tea room is proving a happy rendezvous for the members who are working so strenuously on advertisements for the Folies program. Each day three Junior League girls serve as hostess, cashier and in that office which is distinctive of the Junior League Tea room, a "coffee pouster." Office is served by a charming Junior Leaguer who graciously requests you to let her fill your cup with our own special brand of coffee.

The present co-operative plan of the tea room has proven a felicitous one for it has enabled the Junior League to keep its active interest in the tea room and yet released 14 girls each day for other activities of the league such as the hospital and the Folies.

Mrs. Boles, the new manager, has added many delicious dishes to the number of old favorites such as Junior League spaghetti, and Junior League eggbread sandwich. The latter dish reminds me that Junior League from Hartford who formerly lived here and was here on a short visit, had luncheon as many times as possible at the tea room in order to have chicken and omelette sandwich which she said was an unknown quantity in Hartford.

On Wednesday evening the Junior League Tea room will add to its distinctive service by serving dinner. The tea room will be open from 5:30 until 8 each evening for dinner and for this meal some very delightful dishes have been planned. This is the first time dinner has been served at the Junior League Tea room and the innovation will doubtless meet with great popularity.

Mrs. Boles has more than a business interest in the Junior League for three of her nieces are members of the Junior League. Miss Kathryn Boles and Miss Nana Boles are valued members of the St. Louis League and Mrs. John Watt Daniell was formerly a president of the New Haven Junior League.

A "two-car show" was a new term for most Junior Leaguers until Wallace Milam, the director of the Folies explained that the usual equipment for a musical show required one car to transport it. The coming Junior League Folies is such a pretentious production that it will require two cars to bring it to Atlanta. Add to those two cars the "youth, beauty and wit" which is now practicing daily for the show and something of an entertainment is in store for Atlanta.

Mrs. Ellis Robb Is Entertained In Macon, Ga.

The following excerpt from the Macon News of Sunday, February 2, is of interest here:

"Two beautiful parties of the past week were those given by Mrs. Thomas S. Lowry, Jr., at her home in St. Louis, Mo., in honor of her guest, Mrs. Ellis D. Robb, of Atlanta.

"On Friday afternoon Mrs. Lowry invited a number of friends to meet Mrs. Robb at a bridge-tee. Decorating the room where the guests assembled were quantities of red roses, the valentine idea being carried out in detail. At the conclusion of the games tea was served. Four tables of players were Mrs. Lowry's guests for this affair.

"Saturday morning Mrs. Robb was the honoree at the bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Lowry. The guests assembled at 11:30 o'clock for the games, and after several rubbers of bridge luncheon was served at the card tables. Sixteen friends were invited to meet Mrs. Robb at this affair also. Assisting Mrs. Lowry in entertaining her guests at each of these affairs were Mrs. Church Berryman and Mrs. C. C. Cook.

Mulhaupt Exhibit Is Being Shown At High Museum

The exhibit of 26 oil paintings of Frederick Mulhaupt, of Gloucester, Mass., widely known American artist, is being shown in the auditorium gallery of the High Museum of Art, 1282 Peachtree street, of which Lewis P. Skidmore is director. The collection, which includes principally marines, all of which embody the allure and witchery of the sea, was opened to the public Sunday afternoon. Illusive reflections, whirling sea gulls, the changing hues of sky and sea are all masterfully combined in these canvases which are interpretations of nature in her most irresistible moods.

Mr. Mulhaupt is one of the outstanding artists of America. Born in Rockport, Mass., in 1871, his art instruction has been received at the Art Academy, Kansas City, Mo., the Art Institute of Chicago, and the Paris art schools. His paintings have been widely exhibited here and abroad. Mr. Mulhaupt has won innumerable prizes among these being the Salomonson medal for landscape in 1921; and the award by popular vote from the American Art Association in 1925. He is a member of the Paint and Chisel Club, of Chicago; the North Shore Allied Artists; the American Art Association of Paris and a life member of the National Art Club. His exhibit will evoke the interest of those throughout the city who appreciate the best in the realm of art.

St. Philip's Serves Turkey Dinner Today

The menu includes roast turkey with dressing and cranberry sauce, giblet gravy, candied yams, steamed rice or dumplings, field peas, carrots, English peas or turnips, potato salad, lettuce with red devil dressing, biscuits or cornsticks with butter, 25 cents. Coffee, tea, milk or buttermilk, 5 cents. Lemon, chocolate, banana, pumpkin, mince, raisin, cherry, apple, coconut custard or egg custard, 10 cents. Mrs. H. G. Greer is president of the organization and will be assisted by Mrs. Beverly Rogers, Mrs. Lila Crittenden, Mrs. F. G. Simpson, Mrs. Marcus Field, Mrs. J. M. Veal, Mrs. Theresa Lynde, Mrs. Perry Thompson McAllister, Mrs. A. F. Shivers, Mrs. J. C. Kiercher, of Washington, D. C., an aunt of the bride, and the maid of honor was Miss Hattie Hardy. The bride entered on her honeymoon at 8 o'clock, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, C. D. Tounley.

Miss Bacon Weds Mr. Whiting in Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Of interest throughout Georgia and Pennsylvania was the marriage Tuesday of Miss Louise Bacon Osborne and Charles Perot Whiting, formerly of Philadelphia, which was performed in the First Baptist church, by Dr. W. L. Pickard, of Tifton, former president of Mercer University and an uncle of the bride. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Stella Walrath rendered an organ program. The ushers were Howard Williams, of Macon; Henry Myers, of Tifton; Robert Kelsey and C. S. Gibbs. The matron of honor was Mrs. J. C. Kiercher, of Washington, D. C., an aunt of the bride, and the maid of honor was Miss Hattie Hardy. The bride entered on her honeymoon at 8 o'clock, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, C. D. Tounley.

Look Lovely Tonight

Sallow, Diny Skin made Lovely—Coarse Pores become Fine—Stops oily skin, removes blackheads.

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed magnesia beautifies the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in beautifying the complexion with creamed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture. Being astringent, it drives away the telltale signs of age. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger.

And because it is so mild, it certainly is a blessing for fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or other cream. It changes dull, sallow skin to radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons.

DENTON'S CREMED Facial Magnesia

NOTE: Do not hesitate to try this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not believe anything so simple could do so wonderful. But they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly got lovely complexions.

McCutcheon Sails For Treasure Island

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(P)—Bound for his "treasure island" in the Bahamas, John T. McCutcheon, Chicago cartoonist and world traveler, sailed from here for Nassau today, accompanied by members of his family, McCutcheon will remain on the island, which he purchased several years ago, until March 27.

The island, generally known as Salt Cay, has a drawbridge, pirate watch towers and other romantic institutions installed by the owner. This year, he said, here today, he will add a "custom house" in which will be placed two stanchions of "Old Ironsides," the frigate Constitution.

Miss Nan Inglis Weds C. H. Ramsey At Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Nan Rutherford Inglis to Cecil Henry Ramsey was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the Peachtree Christian church. The Rev. L. O. Bricker, rector of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends. Mrs. Victor B. Clarke, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music.

Mrs. Richard Francis Hill, Jr., was the bride's only attendant. She wore a lovely model of pale orchid chiffon, with a hat of the same shade. Her corsage was of pink roses and valley lilies.

The bride entered with her brother, Morris Ward, by whom she was given in marriage. She was never more beautiful than in her nuptial costume, which was a gray and green tweed suit. She wore a becoming hat of green felt and straw. Her corsage was of orchids and valley lilies. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Hooker Pepper.

Mr. Ramsey and his bride left by motor for a wedding trip through Florida.

Mrs. Ramsey is the daughter of the late John M. Inglis and Mrs. Anne Rutherford Inglis, formerly of Savannah, now of Atlanta. On her maternal side she is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Rutherford, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and on her paternal side she is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Inglis, of Edinburgh, Scotland. She received her education at Savannah High school and since coming to Atlanta has been a popular member of society.

Mr. Ramsey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Ramsey, of Albany, Ga. He was graduated from the Georgia School of Technology and is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and of Scabbard and Blade. He is now associated in business with Gilbert Beers, contractors.

Ernest Hartsock Will Make Talk In Columbus, Ga.

The Columbus-Enquirer-Sun of Sunday, February 2, carries the following excerpt relative to Ernest Hartsock, young Atlanta poet, whose "Strange Splendor" was the prize-winning poem of the Poetry Society of America. Mr. Hartsock read his poem at the annual dinner of the society in New York recently.

An outstanding event of the coming week will be the lecture by Mr. Ernest Hartsock on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Woman's Club, sponsored by the Columbus Woman's Club House Association.

Mr. Hartsock is a native Georgian and is a graduate of the Emory University, A. B., A. M., and was formerly in the English department of Georgia Tech and is now professor of poetry at Oglethorpe. He is editor of Bozart and Contemporary Verse, the second largest poetry magazine in the United States, and was the winner of the national poetry prize for 1929. ## Marguerite and Ann Emmert To Be Honored at Circus Party

Mrs. Marcus Emmert will be hostess this afternoon at her home, Delbrook, on Pace's Ferry road, at a most unusual and attractive children's circus party in compliment to her small daughters, Marguerite McDowell Emmert and Ann Marshall Emmert, which will assemble a group of children of prominent Atlantans.

The playroom of the home will be converted into a circus tent, having a striped canopy hiding the ceiling and walls. Around the wall will be wadded animals typifying those appearing in a circus, such as bears, monkeys, lions, elephants, tigers and various other animals. Live monkeys will chatter and climb from perch to perch in iron cages, and ludicrous clowns will distribute paper clown hats, whistles, popcorn, peanuts and other favors to the children. The floor will be covered with sawdust so as to present the fascinating appearance of staging a real circus.

The children invited include Eleanor Troutman, Marion Moise, Anne Eastman, Jacquelin Mave, Mary Upshaw, Nina Black, Clara Jones, Joan Smith, Frances Richardson, Joan Pinchard, Charlotte Woolford, Frances Beers, Bertha Beers, Mary Elizabeth Beers, Katherine Stephens and James Campbell, Abby Jones, Torrance Chalmers, Buddy Chalmers, Nat Tucker, Billy Black, Charlie Black, Bobby Jones III, Carroll Smith, Alex Smith III, Billy Pritchard, Boykin Bennett, Ted Forbes, Saunders Jones III and Albert Stephens.

The party will be held at 3 o'clock.

International Bank Site May Be Changed

BASEL, Switzerland, Feb. 3.—(Chicago Daily News).—The new bank of international settlements may be located not at the Cherry Garden building, as previously announced, but at the Hotel of the Three Kings, it is said today, because the necessary remodeling of the structure offered by the canton of Basel will be long and laborious. The hotel demands a rental of $1,000,000 for two years, and negotiations are proceeding to lease the space for the bank.

Pierre Quenay, of the Bank of France, and the other experts charged with getting the institution started, arrive here tonight.

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

by E. Phillips Oppenheim

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

Martin Hews, a jagged, crippled, lives in a large, sinister house, where his art treasures are hidden from the world. The place is full of mysterious electrical devices and there are about in an electrically controlled chair.

Major Orston, who tells the story, is a soldier of fortune who has been hired as Hews' bodyguard. On his first night there, the house is attacked by a dangerous gang of London thieves under the leadership of Hews' chief enemy, an arch-criminal named Joseph. The purpose of the attack is to carry off a girl named Rachel who is in the mansion under Hews' protection. Under Orston's leadership the attack is repulsed. When the police arrive they find that Hews' butler, Miles, has been shot in the back and killed. They do not know that Martin Hews fired the shot, mistaking the death penalty because Miles had sold plans of the house and its electrical devices to Joseph.

After the police have said they will have no more need of him, Major Orston goes to his room. He is awakened in the middle of the night by a noise. He goes to the door, who informs him that the whole electrical plan has been put out of commission. He goes to her room and finds Orston follows her to her study's library and forces his way in. There he sees Martin Hews at his desk in deadly fright. The police "inspector," masked, is watching over him. A third man in police uniform is cutting a painting by Corregio from a frame. A third man in police uniform is cutting a painting by Corregio from a frame. A third man in police uniform is cutting a painting by Corregio from a frame.

EIGHTH INSTALLMENT

In the middle of the room were two large kit bags, one of them already filled and strapped, ready for removal. The rosewood rimmed showcases, which contained a collection of gold medals and some priceless, uncut precious stones, were already empty, also in a mask, was in the act of cutting a small Corregio that hung over the door from its frame. The third policeman had lifted his mask for a moment while he held an exquisite pink pearl up to the lamp, by the light of which they were working, before finally approving of it, and seated on the back of a divan, facing me, with a cigarette in the corner of her mouth, was Rachel.

Never in my life have I looked upon so thrilling a scene as that dimly lit apartment—the three men, with their sinister black masks, Martin Hews, his face dark with terror, his eyes almost starting from his head, and the girl looking there, with a cigarette dangling from her red lips.

My entrance had been so noiseless before I had time to take all this in before I was observed, and there is no doubt whatever that if I had been anything but a fool I should have stepped softly back and waited for the result of the alarm that Beatrice Essiter had no doubt already given. Before I had fully realized the situation, however, Rachel saw me. Her great eyes gleamed across the room, and the cigarette fell from her fingers.

For what reason I could not at that moment surmise, in the act of screaming out, she seemed to change her mind, and stifled the cry in her throat. Her start, however, had been sufficient. The man who was examining the pearl looked quickly up, swinging round and faced me. I covered him at once.

"Hands up! Both of you!" I cried. "Quick!"

The man who had been cutting the Corregio from the frame obeyed. The nearer one hesitated. I could see the wicked flash of his eyes as he dropped the pearl from his long, skinny fingers, and ducked. His hand was on his way towards his hip pocket, and with the other man to look after, I shot at his legs, and although I missed them the first time, the second bullet must have broken his kneecap, and the man slid out of his hand on the carpet. The other man had crept a step nearer to me, but his hands were still upraised. I had him covered again while his companion lay writhing upon the carpet.

"Shoot him, you fool!" the latter shouted. "Take a risk, can't you?" "Gun in my hand upon the table," the man spat out. "Kick me yours."

"The wounded man made an effort to roll over, but stopped at the sound of my voice.

"Touch the gun, and you're a dead man," I warned him. "Keep your hands up, you there!"

What followed seemed to me at that moment, as it has done many times since, the strangest part of the whole amazing episode. I was beginning to think that I had won my way through and was master of the situation. The man on the ground had fainted with his last effort to reach his gun. The other was standing obediently well away from the table, with his hands up, and, according to his own admission, unarmed. Then suddenly I heard Rachel's voice—a hoarse, passionate whisper.

"Look out, you idiot! Look out, behind the curtains!"

Even as she shouted, I remembered the third man at the far end of the room. His chair was vacant. Martin Hews, unguarded, was leaning forward across the table, his face distorted with mingled rage and fear, and a miniature automatic, with specially made butt, clenched in his hand. The man who had been guarding him had disappeared, but Rachel's cry had disclosed his plan. The whole of the left-hand side of the room between the two doors was hung with magnificent tapestry, towards which she had pointed. I saw the bulge in it grow nearer every moment as the pseudo-inspector crept up towards me.

About three yards from where he now was came a parting in the tapestry. I watched it with burning eyes, expecting to see it pushed through at any moment. With it all, too, I realized another imminent source of danger.

ger. Rachel could have handed the gun to the man who had been cutting the picture from the frame, and I would have been powerless to interfere. She sat there instead, watching—as I watched—that bulge behind the tapestry drawing closer and closer. The man with his hands up, who had already been making gestures, called over his shoulder.

"Give me that gun, you little devil!"

Rachel made no movement. It was hard work to watch everything, but the bulge was still more than the length of a man's arm from the parting, and I allowed myself one glance at Rachel's face. I caught only a glimpse of it, but it was enough to tell me that so far as she was concerned I was safe.

"Get your own gun, you clumsy bungler!" she shouted. "Calling me names, too! Three of you against one man, and him a toff! I wonder what Jo would say to the mucking lot of you? Watch the bulge, guys!"

I watched . . . though my gun was still covering the other man. Nearer and nearer came that quiver behind the tapestry. Just as I expected, I saw an inch or two of dull, sinister metal slowly forced through the opening. Shooting men in cold blood in the library of an English country house was nothing to my fancy, but in another second, when his eye had crept up to the chink, I was his mark. I swung around and pulled the trigger of my gun twice in succession, trying to hit the arm that held the pistol.

The other man, who had been watching his opportunity, leaped forward the moment he was uncovered, but in a second there was the spit of a shot from behind him, and he staggered round to fall with a sickening crash upon the carpet. Martin Hews, steering his chair beautifully between the bodies of the two wounded men, drew up at my side, also covering the parting in the tapestry. We waited breathlessly! The man in hiding was evidently hit, for there was no movement, and no sound but his groans.

"Don't trust any of these, sir," I shouted. "Keep your hand upon your gun. The man on the floor's coming to!"

Martin Hews smiled. Throughout the whole of my somewhat tangled memories of that scene, I remember his smile. There was ugly humor, there was blood lust, there was ferocity, all there.

"Well-spoken, my gallant major!" he cried. "My preserver, and a man made from this moment. Little lady on the divan, will you find me a prince for a sweetheart, not a gutter-snipe?"

She had slipped to her feet. Her air was one of bravado, but I think that even then she began to realize what she had done, that she had turned against her people, that she would probably never again dare to show herself in her old haunts. Perhaps she knew. At any rate, she shrugged her shoulders and wiped the cigarette ash from her sleeve.

"They fight dirty," she declared. "They're got what was coming to them. Jo would say the same if he was here."

Then I heard the tramping of feet, the parting of men running, and I knew that our ordeal was over. Minchin was first into the room, followed pell-mell by Huntley and Grateson. In the background I caught a glimpse of Beatrice Essiter, and all the chill humor had gone from her face, and her eyes were glowing with a great relief.

The three members of the gang whom we handed over to the police were duly committed for trial, and things proceeded uneventfully at Breezley Mansion until one evening I found Rachel unceremoniously curled up in the easy-chair in my apartment.

"Don't you long lady! Who gave you permission to come in here?" I asked.

She leaned over, struck a match, and lit a fresh cigarette.

"I've had a quarter of an hour with the old ore," she confided, "and I've been given my—what is it you soldiers call it?—parole. I've promised not to attempt to wander back home on my lonesome. I'm going to wait until Jo comes for me."

"Well, he came for you the other night," I reminded her, "and you are still here."

She looked at me with a crooked little smile.

Many Issues Close With Net Declines of 1 to 8 Points

ing last week, ran up 19 more to 324, broke to 275, and then recovered to 324, 270 for a net loss of 26 points. In view of the sharp advance in prices of utilities and industrial stocks, the decline was regarded as a technical correction.

A bullish effect of a further upturn in steel prices was tempered somewhat by the fact that prices have been on the downgrade, and are lower than they were a year ago. United States Steel continued to lead the high on the current recovery at 185, dropped to 181 1/2, and closed at 182 for a net loss of 2 1/2 points. Youngstown Sheet and Tube lost 6 1/4 points, a sharp flurry of buying developed in the copper shares on reports of a sharp expansion in the operations of fabricating plants, although buying of the red metal continued in the active copper shares were cut down when the general market turned heavy.

Large selling was directed principally against steel and copper issues, as well as against the shares of American Car and Foundry, which have been the favorite trading vehicles of some of the declines in this group ranged from 6 to 8 points.

Call money held steady at 4 1/2 per cent all day. The supply of funds nominal, although the return of February 1 dividend and interest payments on the banks is expected to bring about a lowering of the rate later in the week. Time money was quoted at 4 3/4 to 5 in the active market, and bankers' acceptance rates were quoted at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4 per cent.

The New York Stock Exchange reported a decline of $4,742,908 in membership last month, one of the smallest declines in the history of the exchange. The total decline was $3,844,708, or 1.1 per cent, compared with a decline of $3,844,708 on January 31, 1929, and the record decline of $5,459,353,970 on September 30 last.

Establishment of new low levels for the year by the British, French and foreign exchange market. Sterling cables were quoted around $4.86 5/8.

Rice.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Rough rice good demand. Sales none. Receipts 4,500. Clean rice quiet. Sales none. Receipts 4,500.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A decline of approximately $2.50 per bale occurred in the cotton market today under a renewal of liquidation or reselling by buyers of late last week who appeared to be influenced by the relatively easy Liverpool cables and disappointment over the failure of a more aggressive demand to develop following the recent declines. Prices for all positions made new low records for the season and movement with May declining to 10.08 or 51 points below Saturday's closing quotation. That delivery closed at 10.20 and active months generally rallied a few points from the lowest on close, with the later trading, with the close steady at net declines of 39 to 48 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 14 to 19 points in response to the relatively easy Liverpool cables. There was some trade buying and covering, but it seemed to be readily supplied on moderate bulges and the market showed increasing weakness as prices slipped below the low levels of last week. Selling was more or less general and some stop orders were uncovered on the break, which extended to 15.85 for March, 16.31 for July and 16.32 for October during the middle of the morning, about 50 to 62 points net lower. Covering became active enough to check the decline at these figures, and closing quotations showed a rally of 6 to 12 points from the lowest on the more active positions.

The market appeared to be nervous and unsettled from the start. Demand was less active after the covering of late last week, while there was selling on the relatively easy showing of Liverpool. Liquidation and selling generally became more active as prices worked much lower until as prices were tending aggressive support, and the market was very unsettled during the afternoon when a weak rally was probably influenced by weakness in the wheat market and complaints of a continued slow spot demand.

Cables from Liverpool said that business in cotton, cloths and yarns was restricted and that there was accumulating. Houses with Liverpool connections were among the early sellers.

Port receipts today, 11,464. United States port stocks, 2,381,802. Exports, 35,769, making 5,018,573 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Cotton prices broke over $2.50 a bale today into new low ground for the season under pressure of heavy liquidation and general covering. Although there was moderate covering on the decline, demand was supplied at moderate rates and late prices showed a slight recovery over $2 a bale from Saturday's close. May contracts showed a decline of 15.87 and closed at 16.01, or 44 points net down. The general market closed steady at net declines of 42 to 44 points.

Liverpool cables were 8 to 11 points lower than were reflected in an opening decline here of 15 to 19 points. Following a slight rally after the start the market moved downward rapidly under renewed liquidation and general selling promoted by cables from London indicating the probability of a lockout in the Oldham mills. Failure of the federal farm loan board to support the market led to some disappointment here and was probably another factor behind the decline.

The market was on the down grade throughout the morning and although there was a slight rally around noon on covering by satisfied shorts, prices made new lows in the early afternoon. March traded off to 15.61. May 15.87 and July 16.13, or 54 to 59 points below Saturday's close. Some additional covering at the close caused an other moderate rally and late prices showed recovery of about 14 points from the bottom meeting March at 15.75 and July at 16.25.

HEAVY DECLINES.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Cotton prices broke over $2.50 a bale today into new low ground for the season under pressure of heavy liquidation and general covering. Although there was moderate covering on the decline, demand was supplied at moderate rates and late prices showed a slight recovery over $2 a bale from Saturday's close. May contracts showed a decline of 15.87 and closed at 16.01, or 44 points net down. The general market closed steady at net declines of 42 to 44 points.

Liverpool cables were 8 to 11 points lower than were reflected in an opening decline here of 15 to 19 points. Following a slight rally after the start the market moved downward rapidly under renewed liquidation and general selling promoted by cables from London indicating the probability of a lockout in the Oldham mills. Failure of the federal farm loan board to support the market led to some disappointment here and was probably another factor behind the decline.

The market was on the down grade throughout the morning and although there was a slight rally around noon on covering by satisfied shorts, prices made new lows in the early afternoon. March traded off to 15.61. May 15.87 and July 16.13, or 54 to 59 points below Saturday's close. ## THE SON OF TARZAN No. 62

A year passed quickly for Meriem in her home. "Bwana" and "My Dear," as she had first heard the white man and his wife addressed and the names which she still called them, became as father and mother to her. She was sixteen now, though she might easily have passed for nineteen, and she was very good to look upon with her black hair and her tanned skin and all the freshness and purity of health and innocence.

Yet scarce an hour passed that did not bring its recollection of Korak and his yearning to see him again. No longer did she talk of him though, for Bwana had sent her away in a month's search for Korak. They had found Kovodo's village as Meriem had described it but not a single native was there. Nor were there signs of ape or aspen and Meriem knew that "My Dear" and "Bwana" believed that Korak had never existed.

It was a long year for Korak, alone in the deepest jungle. He had no hope that Meriem lived after he had failed to find her in Kovodo's village. He filled his days with labor and excitement that he might forget his misery in exhausted sleep. A year he led his solitary roaming life. Occasionally he fell in with Abut and his tribe, hunting with them for a day or two but he would travel to the hill country where the baboons always welcomed him.

But most of all he was with Tantor, the elephant the great gray battleship of the jungle. The life of the huge beast interested and amused Korak, taking his mind from his own grief and he came to love them as he had not loved even the great ape. One gigantic tusk in particular was his favorite. He came when Korak called, and at a gesture, would wind his trunk about the youth's body, lifting him affectionately to his broad back.

Work of testing the new low-wing cabin monoplane of the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation is going on daily, according to George H. Prudden, vice president of the company and designer of the ship, but will not be completed for some time, possibly six weeks or more. Thorough testing of the plane calls for more than experiments conducted in the air and engineers are going over it daily, making improvements here and there and some few minor adjustments which have been found necessary since the first few flights. The big ship probably will not be taken aloft again for several days. Mr. Prudden said Monday night, no figures or performance information will be made public until the exhaustive tests have been completed by Captain A. H. Page, marine flier, loaned to the company for the test flights.

Apparent cause of the airplane crash at the S. M. A. field near Smyrna Sunday, in which Ray Richter, well known local pilot, received a broken leg and other injuries, could not be ascertained Monday, with Leo C. Wilson, supervising inspector for the district for the department of commerce, out of the city. According to observers of the mishap, in which the

COL. A. W. ANDERSON PASSES AT AUGUSTA

President of C. and W. C. Railway Succumbs After Two Weeks' Illness.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 3.—(P)—Colonel Albert W. Anderson, 60, president and general manager of the Charleston and Western Carolina Railway, died last night after an illness of two weeks, at his home in North Augusta, S. C.

Mr. Anderson was stricken on his return from Columbia, S. C. when the question of leasing the C. and W. C. to the Atlantic Coast Line Railway was being discussed.

Mr. Anderson became associated with the C. and W. C. 45 years ago in a minor capacity and became president of the railway in 1924.

Colonel Anderson was born in Cartersville, Ga., November 27, 1867. After completing high school he attended the University of South Carolina and took up his life work at Laurens, S. C.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church here. On January 20, 1928, he married Miss Mattie Hill, his second wife.

He is survived by his wife; five sisters, Mrs. John B. Dennis, of Kingsport, Tenn.; Mrs. Hugh N. Page, of North Augusta; Mrs. William F. Stuckie, of Montclair, N. J.; Mrs. Albert N. Brantworth, of Leeds, S. C.; Mrs. Florence Simpson, of Florence, S. C.; a nephew, W. M. Simpson, of North Augusta, and several grandchildren.

Colonel Anderson, who was well known in business circles throughout the southeast had visited often in Atlanta and had many close friends here.

Funeral services for Colonel Anderson will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. S. W. Will, 304 Rawson street, S. W.

The body will be taken to the Hill chapel with the Rev. E. M. Poter officiating. The board of directors of the Second Baptist church will act as escort. The body will be taken to the Hill chapel with the Rev. E. M. Poter officiating.

International Crook Escapes Jail Again

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(P)—Herbert Sandow, notorious international crook, wanted by the American police for robbery, added another prison escape to his already long record of getaways today.

Profiting by a moment when he was unobserved, he scaled the high wall of the Tagel penitentiary. He was serving a three and a half years' sentence for robbing a mail train.

Sandow was said by police to have stolen hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of jewelry in New York. He was alleged to have broken out of jail at Palm Beach, Fla., and also to have escaped from Sing Sing prison while serving a year term for burglary.

NAVAL PARLEY READY FOR CONCRETE FACTS

BY FRANK H. KING.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The London conference today had prepared itself for tomorrow's attack on the cross-word puzzle of naval disarmament—the allotment of tons and guns to each of the five nations participating.

As cross-word puzzle fans surround themselves with dictionaries, so the naval delegates and experts have gathered their dossiers, memoranda and bundles of statistics to carry to St. James' palace and there start filling in the great white spaces of the tomorrow.

Downward in the first column go the total navy tonnages for each nation. Crosswise go divisions of that total figure to be achieved, according to each class of warships. It will be a difficult task and is expected to last many days—one last try will be made tomorrow.

Two Problems.
For not only one tonnage puzzle is to be solved but at least two, the delegation today having circulated to American, French, Italian and Japanese delegations a counter-proposal to the French plan.

At British spokesmen announced that the British plan was intended to widen the scope of discussions in a spirit of conciliation and agreement. The French delegates, after being informed of the details, according to the British spokesmen, expressed the opinion that general disarmament discussions would be advanced thereby.
